Kennedy Puts U. S. Into International Air Transport Race

Goal Is to Cross Atlantic in Flights of 2 or 3 Hours

BY ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP)—The finish line is a long way ahead in the international race for a commercial air transport that will whiz across the Atlantic Ocean in two or three hours.

The United States or the Soviet Union may put a man on the moon before it is reached.

But at least the United States officially is in the running, put there—somehow belatedly—by President Kennedy's declaration of American will to go ahead with sonic planes that France and Great Britain are preparing to produce jointly.

Pan Am. Orders Planes

The presidential announcement in Colorado came less than 24 hours after Pan American World Airways ordered six of the supersonic planes that France and Great Britain are preparing to produce jointly.

The order caused jubilation in Paris and London where officials viewed it as a strategic boost to their drive to challenge U.S. superiority in the commercial aircraft field.

In turn, word of the Kennedy decision was cheered by plane builders here, and by Trans World Airlines, Pan Am's chief U.S. competitor on overseas routes.

Prestige Factor

The thing most at stake in the supersonic race is prestige, particularly for the United States, which long has built the bulk of the world's passenger planes.

Also involved is the ticklish balance of international payments.

problem that vitally affects the entire national economy. Sales of U.S. planes and supporting equipment abroad has contributed materially to this country's favorable balance in international trade.

Although the President didn't say so specifically, the U.S. is expected to shoot for a plane that will fly 2,000 miles an hour or faster—Match 3, or more than three times the speed of sound.

Subsidy Required

Costs have been estimated at upwards of $1 billion and, Kennedy said, the U.S. must be prepared to subsidize the project.

Cardinals Arriving For Services and Start of Conclave

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A tide of humanity, perhaps two million strong, today paid homage to Pope John XXIII, who dedicated his life to a fight for peace and died learning war.

The Vatican press office said there had been a million mourners by dawn today, and that a million more were expected by sunset. Vatican police agreed but said the crowd was too tremendous to count.

As the mourners moved through the great Basilica, prelates said masses at altars around the body. Msgr. Loris Capovilla, the Pope's personal secretary, said, one of the masses and then told the mourners that Pope John had said on his deathbed:

Feared New War

"I am afraid, I am afraid. I fear that my children might become involved in a new war."

Meanwhile the Vatican said the Pope's body will be carried into St. Peter's Square tonight for one last time so that he can be seen by mourners who could not get into the Basilica.

Meanwhile, the church's cardinals were arriving for the final rites and the June 19 conclave that will elect a successor.

The College of Cardinals decreed Wednesday that a nine-day formal mourning period for Pope John will start Friday and end June 17. It will be broken for Sunday June 9 and for the Corpus Christi feast day June 13.

Voting Starts June 20

Funeral Masses on the first six days will be said in St. Peter's Basilica by canons of the church. On the last three days the Masses will be celebrated by cardinals.

The cardinals will attend a Mass of the Holy Ghost June 19, then go into conclave at sunset in the Sistine Chapel. Voting will begin June 20. The cardinals will cast four ballots daily in the locked chapel until two-thirds agree on a new Pope.

About 80 of the 82 cardinals are expected to be on hand for the conclave.

Paul Esler, Robert Robach Dead After 4 Youths in Car Try to Evade Police

Two Kaukauna youths were injured fatally and two others hospitalized when their convertible automobile went out of control while being chased by county police on Hillcrest Drive (County Trunk Q) near Peters Road in the city of Kaukauna about 9:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Paul Esler, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Esler, 302 Catherine St., and Robert Robach, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robach, 826 Desnoyer St., died of injuries received in the accident.

The Esler youth died about 11:30 p. m. and the Robach youth died about 2:30 a. m. today without regaining consciousness. Esler died of brain injuries and a skull fracture. Robach died of a basal skull fracture and cerebral hemorrhage. The Esler youth was taken to the Kaukauna Community Hospital.

Schuetz was thrown partially from the overturned car. The others were trapped in the twisted wreckage and had to be freed by police, ambulance attendants and spectators.

Kaukauna and Outagamie County police said the car went out of control on a curve at the Peters Road, sheared off a mailbox, hit a power pole knocking out a 12-foot section of the pole, hit a tree

Spends First Day At Campus Without Open Opposition

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The first known Negro to attend the University of Mississippi, James H. Meredith, was enrolled today.

Meredith, 29, said Wednesday he would arrive in time for classes this morning. He delayed his arrival 24 hours, after summer classes opened for what he termed "urgent personal business."

Meanwhile, Cleveland McDowell, 21-year-old Drew, Miss., Negro, entered the Ole Miss law school Wednesday and spent his first day on campus without incident.

Police and soldiers were at alert as the smiling McDowell went through routine registration and entrance requirements.

All went smoothly after Gov. Ross R. Barnett told a television audience that McDowell was to be

No Limited Merit State Pay Boosts

Assembly Groups Don't Want Stalemate to Show Favoritism

MADISON (AP)—Two Assembly committees moved Wednesday to make sure that if any of the state's 20,000 civil service employees are denied merit increases next year because of the threatened fiscal stalemate, none will get increases.

About 17,500 of the state's 20,000 employees are paid from the general fund. If no executive budget is adopted by July 1 they will be denied their annual merit increases.

Another 2,500 employees are in the Conservation, Highway and Motor Vehicle departments, each with its separate budget supported by revenue other than that in the general fund. Since they are not affected by the executive budget or status of the general fund, their merit increases could take effect after July 1.

Ali or None

But Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, R-Minocqua, following a hearing on the Conservation budget before his Assembly Conservation Committee, announced that the department's budget will go to the Joint Finance Committee and provision for merit increases deleted if the governor and legislature cannot agree on a solution to the overall state fiscal problems.

Court Rules Cigarette Makers Liable if Their Product Proves Harmful

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Under Florida law, cigarette manufacturers are responsible for any harmful effects of their products on the human body, the state Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The court said manufacturers were liable for damages whether or not "by human skill and foresight" they were able to determine the long-range effect of use of their products.

The opinion answered a request of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans for interpretation of the provisions of Florida law regarding the implied warranty of manufacturers and distributors.

The appeals court granted a rehearing of a suit by Edwin Green of Miami against the American Tobacco Co., charging he contracted lung cancer by smoking Lucky Strike cigarettes.

The U.S. District Court in Miami cleared the American Tobacco Co. of responsibility and the appeals court upheld the decision.

War Minister In Britain Quits Due to Scandal

LONDON (AP)—The British Conservative party's chances for re-election reached a new low today as a result of a personal scandal involving a Cabinet minister.

John Profumo, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's 48-year-old war minister, quit his cabinet post and his seat in Parliament Wednesday night after confessing he had lied in denying an "improper association" with a notorious model, Christine Keeler.

Profumo's disgrace was a political bombshell for Macmillan and his Conservative party, who had believed the minister's denial in the House of Commons March 22 of persistent rumors that he had illicit relations with the 22-year-old model, a redheaded beauty who numbered two Jamaican Negroes among her lovers.

Says Tax Credit Violates State Constitution

MADISON (AP)—A legislative proposal to grant a state income tax exemption to parents sending their children to parochial schools would violate the Wisconsin Constitution, Atty. Gen. George Thompson held today.

The opinion was requested by the Assembly on a bill introduced in that house to provide a $10 tax exemption for each dependent attending a non-public elementary or high school.

"The principle of the separation of church and state was indelibly written into our state constitution," Thompson said. He noted that the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that "no matter how formally guided tour don't need additional state aid to appeal a particular proposal. All visitors are required to leave their cameras outside the schools might be, such proposals were invalid."

If Congress Were Bombed

Lunatic Could Create Chaos With Grenade

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House document noted today that at joint sessions of Congress "one lunatic with a hand grenade could plunge our nation into chaos."

That observation was made by Rep. Charles S. Joelson, D-N.J., a member of the Appropriations Committee, and was made public by the committee in its printed report accompanying the annual legislative money bill.

"I get very nervous" at such sessions, Joelson commented.

Leaders Concentrated

He referred to the customary presence at joint sessions of "the entire chain of succession" to the presidency.

At each annual joint session when the President delivers his State of the Union message, the House chamber audience includes the vice president, the speaker of the House, the president pro tempore of the Senate and most cabinet officers. They constitute the entire line of succession.

The vice president and the speaker sit directly behind the President, while the cabinet members sit nearby in front of him. They are in "pretty close proximity," commented Rep. Walt Horan, R-Wash.

"You may have noticed that seldom, if ever, do all of the cabinet members show up for joint sessions. At least one of them usually stays downtown. Perhaps they have thought about this possibility," said a House official who declined use of his name.

Joelson's fears were prompted, he said, by the fact that on March 1, 1954, a band of Puerto Rican fanatics seated in the House gallery fired a volley of bullets into the House chamber and wounded five members.

Since then, no one is allowed in the galleries without an admission card, usually furnished by members. Groups of tourists who pay a quarter each for an officially guided tour don't need admission cards, which are easy to obtain. All visitors are required to leave their cameras outside the gallery, but they are not searched,

These Are Some of the Cardinals who held their first meeting in the Consistory Hall at the Vatican Wednesday in connection with the interim rule of the Roman Catholic Church. From left are Gioacchino Anseldo

Old Age Aid Drops in April

State Welfare Agency Says Those Getting
Funds Below 30,000

MADISON (AP) — The State Welfare Department said Tuesday the number of persons receiving old age assistance in April dropped below 30,000 for the first time since 1962.

The aid, amounting to $2.9 million, down 3.4 per cent from April a year ago, went to 29,892 persons, or 4.3 per cent fewer than a year ago.

The old age assistance was part of the $6.9 million in welfare funds paid to 113,598 persons in April. The grants were 3.6 per cent more than in April, 1962, and the number receiving help was up one half per cent.

Aid to dependent children grants of $2 million went to 31,637 children and 10,625 adults in 10,872 related family groups. Grants were up 7.2 per cent and family groups up 2.8 per cent over the previous year.

$210,162 Grant
Grants of $210,162 went to 3,223 children in 1,970 foster homes. The increases were 9.1 per cent and 8.3 per cent, respectively.

A total of 838 persons received aid to the blind of $85,322, a 3.2 per cent decrease in the number aided but a 12.1 per cent boost in funds.

Aid to the totally and permanently disabled of $546,949 went to 5,162 persons. The increases were 16.7 and 15.6 per cent, respectively.

County and local general relief and state relief to needy Indians was $1.1 million for 32,538 persons in 10,095 families. The number aided was down by half a per cent but grants increased by 9.5 per cent.

accepted only because Mississippi couldn't whip the U.S. Army.

"It would be unwise and futile," said the governor, who had unsuccessfully attempted to block Meredith's admission last fall.

"We have done everything in our power to prevent the enrollment of Cleve McDowell in the university law school," said Barnett. "His entry is in violation of the laws of the state and is contrary to the wishes and order of the Board of Trustees, of the institutions of higher learning and the governor and the people."

No Rude Remarks

"I have not heard one rude remark," McDowell, wearing a checked sports jacket and a new thin moustache, told a press conference after he was registered. "I think this registration was carried out quite well," he added. "There is evidence someone did a lot of work."

McDowell paid fees totaling $179 with a $500 check from the Utility Club, Inc., of New York City. The club was not further identified.

In other racial developments: Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama vowed Wednesday night that despite a federal court order he would resist integration of the University of Alabama. He also appealed for law and order.

Just hours before Wallace's election campaign talk, U.S. District Judge Seybourn H. Lynne issued an injunction barring the governor from physically interfering with the enrollment of three Negroes in the university system.

Lowering Barriers

Three cities in the Carolinas said racial barriers at eating facilities would be lowered. They included Winston-Salem and Raleigh, N.C., and Spartanburg, S.C. At the same time, integration leaders said pressure would be applied for equal rights in other South Carolina cities.

In Los Angeles, white and Negro integrationists pledged Birmingham-type demonstrations of city government and business leaders failed today to take firm steps toward total integration.

McDowell, an honor graduate of Jackson State (Negro) College, enrolled for seven hours of classes, a heavy summer load.

He was trailed by two ministers, a Justice Department attorney, a U.S. marshal, a State Highway Patrol official, newsmen, photographers and Tom Hines, student activities director, as he made his way through the school corridors.

Won Court Battle

At the main entrance to the law school, Hines waved away about 25 loitering students. Sheriff Joseph Ford stepped in at one point to drive the group across the campus. Ford is president of the local Citizens Council.

McDowell won admission to the university in a court fight that came after the state Board of Institutions of Higher Learning rejected his application on the grounds that his enrollment might cause "unrest."

U. S. District Judge Sidney Mize, sitting in Biloxi, ruled McDowell qualified and issued an injunction barring the board or other officials from interfering with his admission.

The projected British-French "Concorde" aims at roughly 1,500 miles an hour. The two nations have pooled $500 million for their effort.

Kennedy talked of getting the American model into service by 1969 or before, although some experts believe 1971 or 1972 is closer to probability. "Concorde" deliveries have been promised in 1968. This also has been questioned.

If the United States decides to try for the faster, 2,000-mile-an-hour plane, it will be gambling that the time lag in putting it into the air will be offset in the marketplace by its greater speed, a prime factor in airline competition.

It also will be taking on greater research and aerodynamics problems, although these are formidable in either undertaking.

For one thing, the Mach 3 craft would have to be made of steel and titanium, instead of the conventional aluminum deemed suitable for the slower Mach 2, because of frictional heat considerations.

Douglas Aircraft Co. engineers have estimated external temperatures of the aircraft skin will range up to 600 degrees Fahrenheit. The cabin and fuel tanks would have to be insulated.

Although there was speculation

in Paris that the Pan Am order might stampede other airlines into buying the "Concorde" without waiting for an American model, it found no immediate confirmation here.

Praises Kennedy

American Airlines and TWA, two of the American Big Four lines, said they have no plan to follow Pan Am's lead. However, Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., TWA president, said his company, "as a potential operator of supersonic aircraft," applauded President Kennedy's decision.

C. R. Smith, American's president and a champion of U.S. action in the supersonic field, was not available for comment Wednesday.

However, in a recent speech he emphasized present uncertainties. "We have only estimates of what the airplane may cost and what the cost of operations may be. We must have better answers, and it will take time to produce these," he said.

and burst into flames, crossed the Frank Wollerheim driveway and overturned and came to rest against a tree on the front lawn 300 feet from the highway. The fire was put out by ambulance attendants, police said.

Outagamie County Patrolman Robert Keating, 25, who was chasing the car at the time of the accident first came upon the car parked on Hass Road about one and one-half miles from the scene of the accident.

Drove Away

He said he got out of his squad car to investigate when the car suddenly was driven away. Keating went back to his car and gave chase.

The car was driven to the end of Hass Road and turned toward Kaukauna on County Trunk Q. Keating said he followed about one-quarter mile behind and reached speeds up to 85 miles an hour.

Near the Kaukauna city limits, Keating radioed Kaukauna police and asked for assistance but was told that city police were involved in a fire at the Kaukauna power plant and could not give aid immediately.

Keating said he saw the car he was following go into one curve near Peters Road and begin to wobble. The car then went into the second curve, went out of control and into the ditch. Keating said he estimated the car was going 80 miles an hour when it went into the second curve.

Kemps and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer today said that an inquest will be held in connection with the double fatality, but that no date had been set.

Sheriff Investigating
Sheriff Calvin Spivey who conducted an investigation at the scene of the accident and continued the investigation today said that since juveniles are involved in the investigation, he has no information to release immediately. Friends may call at Fargo Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Friday. Albert Smith said his son left home with the 1962 model car about 7 p.m. to attend the Kaukauna VFW Hall dance. The club sponsors dances for high school age youths on Wednesday and Friday nights from 9 to 11 p.m.

Esler is survived by his parents, a brother and two sisters. Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Saturday at Holy Cross Catholic Church, Kaukauna, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at Fargo Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Friday. Rosary will be prayed at 8 p.m. Friday.

Spokesman Cites Big Potential for Paper Industry

Green Bay Man Addresses Mill Workers Group Annual Meeting

MENASHA — A spokesman today cited the tremendous potential of the Wisconsin paper industry, already first in the nation, and said proper encouragement could make it even greater.

George E. Mackin, retiring general chairman of the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, addressed the organization's annual meeting at the North Shore Golf Club.

He said that the state's 49 pulp and paper mills have a "strong base" for expansion including timber resources that are growing under the impetus of vast reforestation programs, an excellent working force, a vigorous stream improvement policy, the reinvestment of 50 million dollars a year to expand and modernize plants, aggressive research and marketing programs, and an enlightened sense of public responsibility.

But, he asked if this were enough and pointed out that Wisconsin's business climate and high taxes were criticized at the recent governor's conference on resource and industrial development by Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the Northwestern railroad, and George Gullen, a vice president of American Motors Corp.

Quotes Editorials

He quoted from newspaper editorials which also expressed concern about the state's business climate. Then he added:

"If gentlemen of the stature of Mr. Heineman and Mr. Gullen say Wisconsin has a poor business climate, officials can argue until they are blue in the face and it won't repair the damage that is being done to our reputation in national business circles."

"But whether or not we are at a tax disadvantage in this state, few can argue the very fact we think we are puts a damper on aggressive expansion programs."

Mackin, a vice president of Green Bay Packaging, Inc., pointed out that the many research, educational and conservation organizations founded and encouraged by the Wisconsin paper industry help create a "broad base" for further expansion.

Other positive factors, he said, include the efforts that have been made in recent decades to increase the state's timber supply through reforestation programs, and to guarantee good pure water for power and production through far-sighted stream control and improvement programs.

"We now grow annually in this state more timber than is cut for pulpwood, sawlogs, and other uses," he said. "Thus, every year we add to our bank of raw materials."

Working Force

In addition, he said, the industry has a "dedicated and efficient" working force numbering more than 42,000 in Wisconsin and enjoys tranquil relations with its employees.

"Our industry hasn't even come close to realizing its potential in this state," he declared.

The Green Bay executive listed some things that have been done in other states to encourage businesses, including tax concessions and the furnishing of plant facilities at nominal costs.

He said the Wisconsin paper industry isn't looking for special favors or privileges, but:

"Let us all hope that before too long we will get the encouragement that is essential if our state is to survive as the world's paper-making capital."

2 Men Retired During May at Consolidated, Inc.

Two men with approximately 85 years of service at Consolidated Papers, Inc. have retired.

Walter R. Miller, 726 S. Mason St., Appleton, retired at the end of May with nearly 45 years of service. Storekeeper at the Appleton division for the past 11 years, Miller joined Consolidated in 1918 as a laborer in the laboratory. He spent more than 44 years in the company.

Mr. Van Lan, 535 S. Wilshire, Little Chute, completed nearly 40 years of service at Appleton division prior to his retirement in May. Van Lan started with the company in 1923 as a millwright laborer and worked as a lead burner since 1930.

Non-Support Case Deferred Until Friday

OSHKOSH — County Judge James Sitter deferred until Friday morning proceedings in a non-support charge against James Bartz, 28, Menasha, who was returned recently from Bloomington, Ind.

He was charged with desertion and non-support of his wife and daughter from May 1 to May 9. Bartz was jailed in default of $1,000 bond.

Reroute Traffic For Road Work

Combined Locks Streets Will be Blacktopped Soon

COMBINED LOCKS — Members of the village board Tuesday night authorized the street department foreman to reroute traffic onto Jean and Richard Streets while improvement work is carried out on Wallace Street.

Approximately three blocks of Wallace Street from County Trunk N to Daniel Court is scheduled for blacktopping later this month. Wallace Street connects newly developed residential areas in the Van Daalwyk Plants and Wallace Plats.

Play Program

Ray Hamann, Kimberly superintendent of schools, appeared before the board to outline the summer recreation program to be set up in Combined Locks. Since that village has joined the Kimberly school district, summer recreational activities come under the jurisdiction of the school board.

Supervisors are scheduled to be stationed at Van Zealand Park and the Pavilion Park to teach handicraft and organize play activities. Ball leagues, movies and other features of the Kimberly play system will also be available to Combined Locks youngsters.

A request to extend Williams Street south to Wallace Street, across Chicago and North Western Railway tracks, was held over for future study as board members indicated no money had been appropriated in the 1963 budget for street extensions.

Solons Down Bill On County Boards

Defeated in Assembly, 64-28 Proposal to Streamline System

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin Assembly in a heavy vote today rejected a bill to reorganize county boards of eight Wisconsin urban counties.

In a margin of 64-28, assemblymen refused to approve a measure to establish a new county board system consisting of 21 supervisor districts in those Wisconsin counties of more than 100,000 population and less than 500,000. The bill would have applied to Outagamie, Brown, and Winnebago counties and five of the urbanized counties in southern Wisconsin. Principal sponsors included Assemblymen Harold Froehlich (R-Appleton) and David Martin (R-Menasha).

Jaycees Name Derby Queen

Paula Pierre, 11, Will Reign Over June 16 Events

The authors said they would keep their campaign for county board modernization alive by introducing later today a resolution establishing a special interim committee which would be instructed to draft a proposal for county board modernization for submission to the 1965 legislature.

Assemblyman Froehlich told the Assembly that there is a great public interest in equalized representation on county boards as shown by the support given to this bill by a committee of distinguished citizens and civic leaders.

Equal Representation

"The basic question is equal representation. Is one man's vote equal to that of another?" he asked.

Assemblyman Martin said local government in Wisconsin is strengthening to prevent the erosion of power by Washington and Madison governments.

"By assuring a fair balance of rural and city representation we can assure for years to come the strength of our local government," he said.

But not all the representatives of the urban counties supported the reform bill.

Williams Bay Man Gets Post In Appleton

Russell Knapton Named Head of City Equipment

Russell C. Knapton, 42, of Williams Bay, was appointed superintendent of municipal equipment for the department of public works Wednesday night.

Knapton, who succeeds James Lewer of Brookfield, was the No. 1 rated candidate after written and oral tests given by the State Bureau of Personnel. The common council appointed Knapton.

Lewer was on the job less than two months last fall when he resigned and made charges concerning an alleged situation at the city garage which later touched off a full-scale investigation.

Knapton, a native of Boyd, was among 36 persons from throughout the state who applied for the job, which pays $587 a month. The field was eventually narrowed to seven who took final tests.

Fleet Supervisor

Two city employees ranked third and seventh. Public Works Director Robert W. Bues, who recommended Knapton's appointment, said he was the best man for the job.

Knapton is fleet supervisor for the William O'Donnell Trucking Co. of Elkhorn. He has been in charge of the firm's fleet of 60 trucks for the past three years. Prior to that he was employed with the International Harvester Co., Milwaukee, and also had 5 1/2 years of military service.

In addition to extensive mechanical training in the Air Force, Knapton has taken several courses on equipment maintenance and repair.

Knapton, who starts here June 16, will be in charge of maintaining all vehicles under the public works department jurisdiction.

Good References

"Knapton was the No. 1 man in the tests and had good references," Bues said. "I am pleased to be able to recruit a man of this caliber for Appleton and I am certain he will receive the cooperation of all city employees and officials."

Mr. and Mrs. Knapton have four children. They will move here in the near future.

In other action, the council authorized the immediate appointment of two detectives to boost the size of the Appleton Police Department's detective bureau to eight men. Promotions will be from within the department, officials said.

And, on the recommendation of its public safety committee, the council created positions for an inspector (assistant chief) and two captains for the police department. Positions are to be filled in 1964.

Green Bay Man's Driving Nets Him Year's Probation

OSHKOSH — Peter Kores, 22, 1129 S. Baird St., Green Bay, was placed on a year's probation to the State Department of Public Welfare today by County Judge James Sitter who stayed consecutive sentences of three months each for operating a car after revocation of his license and of excessive speed on a curve.

Kores had pleaded guilty to the charges April 19.

Sentencing on a third charge of taking a car without the owner's consent was deferred until Nov. 15 and Kores is to receive aid from the Brown County Guidance Center.

He was arrested April 11 by Winnebago County Police after the car he was driving, owned by his roommate's father, went off a curve on State 110 just outside Oshkosh. He had been pursued by Oshkosh police prior to that accident.

Kimberly High Distributes Its '63 'Potpourri'

KIMBERLY — The 1963 edition of "Potpourri," a collection of essays, themes, short stories, poems and book reviews by the creative writing class at Kimberly High School, was distributed to the student body Tuesday.

The booklet, prepared under the direction of Miss Alice Sucharda, instructor, is designed to stimulate interest in writing among students. All students may submit articles for consideration for the booklet.

Contributors to the 45-page book were Mary Gerrits, Mary Frank, Kathy Johnson, Joanne McCormick, Sandra Weyenberg, Sandra DeBruin, Margaret Weyers, Jerry Wyngaard, Dave Geurdon, Larry Timm, Peter Vandehey, Steve Meyer, Hal Wentzel, Jim Rennebohm, Dale Mitchell, Mark Siedel and Tom Cattanaeh.

Typing for the edition was done by senior students under the direction of Myron Huth.

Runners-Up Listed

Runners-up in the contest were Bonnie Balliet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Balliet, 325 W. Prospect Ave., second place. Sheri Noack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Noack, 1425 W. Brewster St., and Lisbeth Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schultz, 613 E. McArthur St., tied for third place; and Peggy Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green, 122 E. Glendale Ave.

The runners-up will be introduced on Derby Day and will be given gifts.

The queen was chosen on the basis of poise, personality, voice, general appearance and beauty.

Lightning Knocks Out Gas, Power in Kaukauna Area

Kaukauna Firemen Extinguished a fire in a gas line under the Island Street bridge Wednesday night. The damage to the gas line was caused by a bolt of lightning that also disrupted telephone and electrical service and seriously damaged a generator at the Island Street power plant. (Post-Crescent Photo)

$15,000 Generator Catches Fire When Struck; Repair Crews Work on Electric, Gas Lines

KAUKAUNA — Thunderstorms Thursday night knocked out electrical service in the entire area getting power from the Kaukauna Electrical and Water Dept., interrupted natural gas service to a number of city homes and cut off telephone service in much of the city.

A bolt of lightning struck a power line beam crossing the Island Street bridge near the intersection of Elm and Island streets at 7:33 p.m.

The bolt hit the beam and a power line, the road and a gas line going under the bridge. W. A. Baer of the Kaukauna utility said that when the power line was hit, the charge traveled down the power line to the power plant and into a generator.

Total Loss

The generator caught fire and was shut down at 7:35 p.m. The city fire department fought the blaze for about an hour before extinguishing it. Baer said the generator, an old 2,400-volt Badger plant, one of Kaukauna's first units, probably was a total loss. He estimated damage at $15,000 to $20,000.

Baer said the generator was owned by the Green Bay-Mississippi Canal Co. and leased by the City of Kaukauna. He said the bolt knocked out the entire Kaukauna electrical system, including parts of Little Chute and Combined Locks, but service was restored to all but the area served by the damaged line at 7:39 p.m. Total service was restored at 9:40 p.m., he said.

Baer said the area cut off by the bolt until 9:40 p.m. was bound on the north by County Trunk Oo, on the south by Grignon and Augustine streets, on the west by Division Street and on the east by Plank Road.

Burns Out Cable

When the power line was hit, it fell over a telephone line, also at the intersection of Elm and Island streets. The power line apparently arced into the telephone line and burned out about 300 feet of cable both above and below ground at about 8:30 p.m., phone company crews said.

Service was knocked out at the police and fire stations, much of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. and the immediate area around the bridge. Richard Kuehn, manager of the Kaukauna office said.

Kuehn said emergency lines were put in to the police and fire stations by midnight, and much service had been restored by 9 a.m. today.

Arthur Peters, Kaukauna district manager of the Wisconsin Gas Co., said 51 customers in the area of the break were without service. Service was restored to 32 customers by 9 a.m. today, he said.

Gas Ignited

The lightning ignited gas at the rupture in the line running under the bridge. Gas company crews shut off lines at both ends of the bridge and allowed the gas still in the line to burn out. The Kaukauna Fire Dept. extinguished the fire at about 9:20 p.m.

Gas company crews barricaded the bridge and contacted customers as a safety measure. Peters said, The bridge still was barricaded at 9 a.m. today while crews worked on the line, he said.

The only electrical trouble reported in the city was a master fuse blown after lightning hit a line at the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. switchyards about 10 p.m.

Heavy Windstorms

Heavy windstorms accompanied by thundershowers also knocked down several trees in Waupaca County. One tree fell on the home of Henry Pascato, Camp Cleghorn. No estimate of damages has been made.

Allen Johnson, patrol superintendent of the Waupaca County Highway Dept., said trees blocked traffic at the intersection of State 49 and County Trunk I, on County Trunk O near Marble School, near Camp Cleghorn, on U.S. 10 west of Waupaca and on County Trunk E near Ogdenburg.

Appleton Moves to Obtain Federal Grant for Plan Project

Council Says Share Should Not Exceed $30,000 for 701 Program

The City of Appleton is moving for rezoning six lots in North Park Estates and referred the matter back to the plan commission. A group of doctors plan to construct a $200,000 building on the property, representing an expansion of Doctors Park.

—Paved the way for construction of a $500,000 shopping center in the Ballard Road-Pershing Street area by vacating a portion of Bay Street.

—Indicated it favored preparation of an ordinance which would establish tight restrictions for professional fund raisers, including a requirement they register with the city and obtain a permit.

Major Ingredients

Aldermen sailed through a pile of municipal business with limited discussion and no debate.

The plan commission must obtain services of a consultant before making application to the State Department of Resource Development for a 701 grant, which would have the federal government paying two-thirds of the expense involved in putting together the Comprehensive Plan.

Major ingredients of the plan, which will take an estimated two years to prepare, include: population, economic and land use analyses, land use, transportation and central business district plans, neighborhood analysis and capital improvement program.

If the city does not have a transportation plan by 1965 it will be required to prepare one.

LITTLE CHUTE — The village board Tuesday night accepted a low bid by Gresl Construction of $18,618 for construction of a sani- tary sewer lift station at the ex- tension of Taylor Street north.

The station is designed to service presently unused area located on both sides of County Trunk OO from behind St. John Cemetery to the east village limits. Property in this area can be utilized for residential or industrial pur- poses, but until installation of the lift station can not be serviced with sanitary sewer.

Other bidders were Henry Ver- bruggen and Sons, Little Chute, Joseph Dael, Appleton, Midway Sand and Gravel, Appleton, Bow- er Brothers Construction, Kau- kauna; Ray J. Schmitz Construc- tion, Wausau, and Hedrick Con- struction, Chilton.

Board members voted to enter a contract with E. D. Chase Co. for the repair of roofs on various municipal buildings at a cost of $830.

At the recommendation of the Army Corps of Engineers, board members approved installation of an electric eye switch on the drawbridge which will automatic- ally activate bridge and pier lights as necessary.

Youth Prizes Long Hair More Than Driver Permit

NEENAH — How much is a head of hair worth? To a Neenah youth, apparently more than his driver's license.

A teen-age driver appeared before Winnebago County Ju- venile Court Judge James Sar- res Tuesday on a speeding charge. Judge Sarres, noticing the long, unkempt hair of the youth, gave him a choice of getting his hair cut, crew-cut fashion or having his license suspended for 60 days.

The youth thought for a minute and then elected to keep his hair and surrender his license. Judge Sarres ordered a com- promise and s u s p e n d e d the youth's license for 30 days and ordered him to appear again next Tuesday — with his hair cut.

Neenah Council Defeats Boat Purchase Plan

City Doesn't Need a Navy, Alderman Says

NEENAH — Purchase of a harbor patrol boat from the Re- cal Marine Matt for $3,948.50 up- on the recommendation of the fi- nance committee was defeated at the Wednesday evening meeting of the Common Council.

A motion to reconsider the pur- chase after regulations on the use of Neenah police boats would be established was passed by the council.

Ald. Florian Jabas said during discussion on the purchase mo- tion that he didn't think a "city areas of work of the police boat size needs a navy." He said or boats, that just because the city has the funds doesn't mean another boat should be purchased without as her voted against the purchase.

Mac-ettes Down Appleton SSAC In League Game

la 21-6 rout of Appleton SSAC Wednesday night at the Seventh Street diamond. They now have an overall 7-1 record.

The Menasha girls scored three runs in the first inning, four in the second, three in the third and fourth, four in the fifth and one in the sixth. Appleton collected which was then sold as it was too large for effective work. The funds thus obtained were planned to be used for the purchase of another boat.

Ald. Jabas questioned the wis- dom of purchasing the 22-foot in- board outboard boat, saying that "no one has shown me why we need a boat of this size."

He suggested the city set up a program for each of the boats at Oshkosh Ron's. June 24, at SSAC, July 3, Billy Club here; July 10, Oshkosh Ron's here; July 15, at SSAC; July 24, at Billy Club; July 31, Oshkosh Ron's here.

League officers are Donna Lar- sen, Menasha, president; Teri Umland, Appleton, vice presi- dent, Karen Rees, Oshkosh, secretary; and Margaret Kurtz, Oshkosh, treasurer.

All games are scheduled for 6:30 p.m. The Mac-Ettes will play at the Seventh Street field. Ap- pleton at Erb Park and Oshkosh teams at Menominee Park No. 1 Tuscon, Ariz.

Stock Market Moves Lower

Dow Jones Average Off .64 at Noon, Now Reads 725.29

NEW YORK (AP)—Weakness in tobaccos and delinques among Big Three motors and steels highlighted an irregularly lower stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

The tobaccos took some sharp losses on overnight news that a Florida court had ruled a tobacco company can be held liable for damages for a death caused by cigarette smoking.

Some of the sugar stocks continued mildly a recovery from recent losses. These issues continued to be sustained by a sharp rebound in sugar commodity future prices.

Most oils were steady but the rails gave ground following a dampening government report on the proposed merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Brokers said that continued evidence of tightening credit has led Wall Street to be wary of a possible raise in the margin rates for stock buying on credit and of a hike in the Federal Reserve Board's discount rate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .4 at 273.3 with industrials off .2, rails off .8, and utilities off .2.

American Tobacco, directly involved in the Florida court action, dropped 1/4 to 30 on an opening block of 13,000 shares and widened the loss to nearly a point. Philip Morris was off more than 3, Liggett & Myers 2, Lorillard more than a point, and Reynolds tobacco about a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .64 at 725.29. Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in quiet trading.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were a little stronger.

Woman Wills $10,000 to Church, YMCA at Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — Bequests of $10,000 each to the First Congregational Church of Oshkosh and the Oshkosh Community YMCA for their building programs were contained in the will of Grace Cornish Smith of the Town of Black Wolf which was admitted to probate Wednesday by County Judge Herbert J. Mueller.

Mrs. Smith, who died May 3, left an estate estimated as being in excess of $100,000 in personal property and in excess of $25,000 in real estate.

The will directed that the pledges made to those two building programs prior to her death were to be continued.

She also made a bequest of $5,000 to the reserve fund of the Oshkosh Community Chest, now the Oshkosh United Fund, with the provision that $500 of that gift was to go to the drive each year.

Her housekeeper, Mrs. Esther Geffers, Oshkosh, was left $10,000.

The will also contained four bequests of $7,000 each to relatives by marriage and five gifts of $1,000 each to friends.

The rest of her estate is to go in trust to her adopted daughter, Vera E. Kerstel, Chippewa Falls, and after her death is to be divided among nine organizations. They are the Cancer Fund, which will get 20 per cent, and the Wisconsin Heart Association, the Ladies Benevolent Society of Oshkosh, Twin Lakes Boy Scout Council of Oshkosh, Oshkosh Campfire Girls, Salvation Army Unit in Oshkosh, Elizabeth B. Davis Children's Home in Oshkosh, the Oshkosh Visiting Nurses Association and the First Congregational Church of Oshkosh, each of which will get 10 per cent from the trust residue.

First National Bank of Neenah Names Officer

The First National Bank, Neenah, has named D. Stephen Farley, Deerfield, Ill., vice president of a new trust officer, it was announced today by J. Russell Ward, president. Farley has spent the last nine years as an officer in trust and estate planning for the First National Bank of Chicago.

His appointment followed a recent decision by the bank's board of directors to embark on a comprehensive program that will expand the services in the trust, estate planning and retirement and pension trust fields.

Although the bank has had full trust powers for 30 years, services have been limited to special situations because of inadequate space. With the bank's new three story building due for occupancy next year, the trust department will be expanded and full trust services will be offered. Farley's appointment is an additional step in this program.

Farley is a 1932 graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law School and is licensed to practice law in Wisconsin and Illinois. He joined the Chicago bank in 1954.

He is a member of the Wisconsin Bar Association, the Illinois Bar Association, the American Legion and is treasurer of the Chicago Chapter, Military Order of the World Wars. Married and the father of five children, Farley will reside at 306 E. Wisconsin Ave.

Admits Drunkenness

OSHKOSH — Earl Lauger, 48, 702 Oregon St., Oshkosh, formerly of Neenah, pleaded no contest to a drunkenness charge and sentence was deferred by County Judge James Sitter until Friday morning. Lauger was arrested by Neenah Police at 4 p.m. Tuesday, while sleeping on the grass at Island Park.

Legals Will Continue in Northwestern

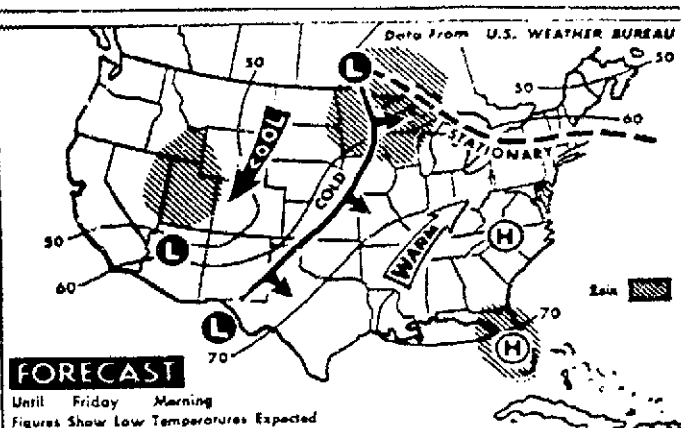

NEENAH — The council Wednesday evening passed a motion continuing the publication of its legal notices in the Oshkosh Daily Northwestern until the present "injunction is lifted and the council takes action" on naming the official newspaper for the year.

The injunction was ordered on the complaint of Dennis Goggins, Neenah attorney, and prevents the City of Neenah from further attempting to obtain subsequent bids for the official paper after the original bids submitted by the Twin City News - Record and the Northwestern on May 7.

City Atty. Charles Schaller May 15 ruled both newspapers were ineligible to submit bids under state law concerning city of publication and the council called for quotations from both newspapers.

The court hearing on whether the injunction should be ordered was postponed twice, with the date presently being set for June 17. Schaller told the council they cannot take any action changing the official newspaper until the injunction matter is settled, but he would "feel better" if the council would take official action following the court's order.

72 to Graduate From Fox Valley

School Will Award Diplomas At 7th Annual Commencement

Seventy-one seniors will participate in Fox Valley Lutheran High School's seventh annual graduation exercises in the School gymnasium at 8 p. m. Friday.

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend the event, during which members of the class of 1963 will receive diplomas or certificates of attendance.

Student speakers will be John Koschmann and Barbara Kuhn. Koschman will speak on the values of a Christian education, while Miss Kuhn will review an FVL education.

The Rev. Frederick Heidemann, of Emanuel Lutheran Church, New London, will be the guest speaker.

The Rev. Sylvester Johnson of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Appleton, will pronounce the invocation and benediction.

The class has chosen to wear white robes with its class flower, the red rose. "If God Be for Us, Who Can Be Against Us" is the scripture passage chosen as the class motto.

The traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" and "Panfare and Reccessional," opening and closing marches, will be performed by the Fox Valley Lutheran High School band.

The graduation hymn, "My God, My Father, Make Me Strong," will be sung by the class of 1963 during the program.

Members of the senior class include the following:

Appleton Firms Get Contracts
Three Appleton firms have received contracts in conjunction with the construction of a $731,129 addition to joint District No. 1 school at Loyal, near Marshfield. Raymond N. LaVee & Associates, Inc. is the architect for the project. Awarded the general contract was F. J. Piette & Sons in the amount of $474,435. The $122,000 heating, air conditioning and ventilation contract went to August Winter Co. Other successful low bidders were: Max Langfeldt & Sons, Loyal, plumbing, $44,896, and K & M Electrical Co., Marshfield, electrical, $89,798. LaVee said today that construction of the addition, which will include a new gymnasium, eight classrooms and several other rooms, will start next week. Target date for completion of the project is June 15, 1964. About 650 students are enrolled at the school.

Kaukauna Seniors Told to Use Talents

Ripon Professor Says Youths Must Continue to Develop

KAUKAUNA — Howard C. Hansen, associate professor of speech and chairman of the department of speech at Ripon College, told the 221 Kaukauna High School graduates Wednesday night, "a true understanding of life does not come easy and who you are and who you will be depends on how you apply what has been given you."
Theme of his talk was "Who You Are." The speaker told the graduates "the work of many have brought you to this point as they tried to teach you how to find what you are." He advised them to continue to develop themselves.
Motivation is needed to grow the speaker said. But he indicated that drive and environment are also needed. "For many formal education is over," said the speaker, "and growing is at an end and going has arrived." Those going on to college can continue to grow or remain as they are depending on themselves, said Hansen.

Fund Request Moves Ahead

not be eligible for federal paving funds.
Ald. Alvin Tews (5th) noted the city had several surveys and plans prepared over the years and inquired if there was duplication involved in the CP.

Advices Grads
He advised graduates to know and accept responsibilities. "As you come into contact with great ideas and great ideals, it will enable you to come to a realization of yourself," said the speaker. "Remember the three relationships in life," stated, Hansen, "relationship to self, relationship to environment and relationship to the creator."
He concluded by warning graduates of the forbidding nature of life, but indicated its challenges and responsibilities could be met.

Student Speakers
Thomas Hiestand, a member of the class, spoke on the dangers of Communism and the need to preserve our freedoms. He advised students, "the power to stop Communist domination of the world lies with us."
He told of the importance of winning friends, of giving without thoughts of receiving, of continuing to work for world peace and of meeting the Communist challenge by showing the power of freedom.

John Whitman, second student speaker, spoke on the importance of individual freedom and how it can be maintained. Individual disregard for freedom is one way of losing rights, stated Whitman, while gradual encroachment by government is another.
He advised students not to be afraid to be individuals. He warned about government trying to interfere with freedom of the press as a step toward government control. "Understand the consequences of challenges to liberty and work to counteract and meet this challenge," said the speaker.

No Debate
The ordinance creating the position of finance director will become effective in 60 days. A controversial subject here for years, the finance proposition provoked no debate. Salary for the position will be set following a recommendation from the State Bureau of Personnel.
A request for expanding Doctors Park was bumped back to the plan commission because some property owners in the area are objecting. They will be heard by the commission at its next meeting.
No mention was made by aldermen of the proposed Lake Michigan pipeline project now bottled up in the board of public works, or the proposition of a private contractor to take over Appleton's garbage and trash collection program on a twice-a-week basis.

In other action, the council also: Gave preliminary approval to a new subdivision control ordinance and referred it to the welfare-ordinance committee for a final recommendation.
Approved municipal licenses, some of them with the stipulation that various inspections be made before they become effective. Included in the group were two tavern owners with charges pending against them.
Advised the Outagamie County Board of Adjustment that the city objects to the rezoning from agricultural to commercial an area of land in the Town of Grand Chute because it would be contrary to the proposed regional plan land use.
Gave approval to plans for a $12,000 rest room facility and storage facility at Hoover Park.
Renewed the city's contract with the Town of Menasha sanitary district No. 2 for one year.
Indicated plans to boost the cost of permit fees for heating and air conditioning projects on a percentage basis, ranging from a minimum of $1 to a maximum of $100 charge. An ordinance will be prepared.
Went against the recommendation of the engineering firm in charge of the project and directed that bricks for the $450,000 East Ramp parking structure, now under construction, be purchased locally at a cost of $80 per thousand.
Authorized Lawrence College to proceed with a major sewer construction project in the ravine area east of Whiting Field, and directed the city engineering department to place the remaining necessary storm sewer to enclose the entire ravine on the 1963 construction program. The city's work will cost $13,000.
Awarded the sale of $1.3 million of general obligation bonds to the low bidder, a group of financial firms headed by First National Bank of Appleton. Interest rate for the 20-year bonds is 2.93 per cent.

Bischoff Farms Trial Decision Not Likely Soon

Trial in Circuit Court of six former directors of the old Bischoff Farms, Black Creek, who have been charged by two creditors with malfeasance in office, has been completed and counsels have been asked to submit briefs to the court.
Circuit Judge Heimuth Arps is not expected to hand down a decision until near the end of summer. Testimony began May 8 and was continued to May 13. Arps then continued the matter until Monday, June 3, when testimony was completed. Arguments were heard in Circuit Court Tuesday. The case is not being tried before a jury.
The Ferdman Bag Co., of Milwaukee, and Clarence Fischer, Markesan, a former Black Creek area contractor, seek to recover over $8,000 from the directors. The Bischoff Corp. went out of business in 1960.

AAA Suggests Traffic Change

Oshkosh Pattern Alterations Told After Group Study
OSHKOSH — Changes in the traffic regulation pattern in the downtown Oshkosh area are recommended by the Wisconsin division of the American Automobile Association to help relieve traffic congestion.
The AAA did a traffic engineering study in the downtown area at the request of the city.
AAA recommendations include removing parking from Main street from the bridge to Washington Avenue after additional off-street parking is provided.
They also recommend that the seven traffic signals on Main Street between the river and Irving Avenue be operated on the same signal cycle to allow traffic to progress with a minimum of stopping.
To eliminate congestion at two intersections, the AAA recommends making Coape Avenue one-way eastbound and Otter Avenue one-way westbound.
To encourage greater use of existing one-way streets, it is recommended that stop signs be removed from Jefferson and Mount Vernon Streets at Merritt and Parkway avenues and from Alabama Boulevard and High Avenue at Division Street.

Commission Wants to Start Implementing Regional Plan

"The pure planning stage is completed and our present concern is with the implementation of this regional comprehensive plan," Eugene Franchett told the education committee of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission Monday.
"Without implementation the plan has no value to the communities in the region," Franchett said when he talked to the newly reconstituted committee at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.
He urged the education committee to inform the public of the future needs for expressways and parks in particular, and noted that land must be reserved now for those uses.

Bues Wants Another View on Waterline

Appleton Public Works Director Says More Caution Is Needed With Project

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues has advocated the city "get another firm's point of view" on Appleton's long-range water expansion program plans.

Bues, who emphasized his suggestion was just a thought and not a recommendation, made his comment at Tuesday's meeting of the board of public works.

Also attending and requesting that his firm be considered for the engineering contract for any future expansion project was A. M. Sterba, Chicago, representing Consoer, Townsend and Associates, consulting engineers.

The Appleton Water Commission has recommended the city retain Alvord, Burdick and Howsen Engineers, Chicago, and go to Lake Michigan for a future water supply. The firm, which has been the commission's consultant for 20 years, conducted an extensive survey of the city's water needs and sources for new supply. The overall study, complete with recommendations, cost $65,000.

Bues told the board that in view of the fact $8.2 million is the price put on the Lake Michigan pipeline project, the city should make another study even if it cost $10,000 to $20,000. "This would not be unusual considering the large expenditure involved here," Bues said.

"I would sure like to see this thing proceed with a lot more caution," Bues commented. He said he gathered from reading the report of Alvord, Burdick and Howsen that no firm recommendation was made about a new source of supply.

"Everybody recognizes the need for obtaining a new water source and the best would be Lake Michigan but I think the cost and other factors should be taken into consideration," Bues said.

(In recommending the Lake Michigan pipeline project, the Water Commission has pointed out that the cost of the project would be paid for by 20-year revenue bonds. Local water rates would be increased by 60 to 65 per cent.)

Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd) said he also read the report and found "some conflicting things that should be clarified."

No Action
The committee took no action on the water commission's recommendation to have the common council retain Alvord, Burdick & Howsen as engineers for the proposed Lake Michigan project.

Instead, aldermen indicated they might accept the invitation of Sterba to inspect the facilities of Consoer, Townsend & Associates at Chicago, and also pay a visit

Freedom VFW, Firemen Hold Annual Picnic

Queen Reigns Over Activities; Floats Win Parade Prizes

FREEDOM—Karen Tiedt reigned as queen of the seventh annual VFW and volunteer firemen's picnic over the weekend.

Miss Tiedt's court included Alvord, Burdick & Howsen. Both are nationally known, recognized engineering firms.

Sterba said his firm entered the picture recently when it was learned the city had not contracted for an engineering firm for its water expansion. "When we read that Appleton was thinking of going to Lake Michigan, I came here and checked into it," Sterba said.

Sterba distributed brochures on his firm's background, qualifications, facilities and past projects.

Janne Mayers, Donna Hendrick, Carole Springstroh and Sharon Jens.

Emil Huss was marshal for Sunday's parade. Marching units included the Freedom Union High School band, Freedom VFW Post 7692 color guard and marching unit, the Kaukauna Kauetses Twirling Corps, the Little Chute Community band, the Diplomats Twirling Corps of Kaukauna, the Scottys' from Little Chute and Kimberly and the Bonnie Lassies and the Dutch Girls Drum and Bugle Corps, both of Little Chute. Judges of the floats were Les Sanders, Little Chute fire chief, and Gordon George, Eighth District vice commander for the VFW.

Win Prizes
Marv's Bar float won first place in the humorous division followed by Techlin's Bar and R. J. Ludwig Construction Co.'s float "Gav Nineties."

In the originality division, the Freedom VFW Post 7692 won first place, with second and third places won by Little Chute Drum and Bugle Corps and the Kaukauna Diplomats Twirling Corps. The Freedom VFW women's float entitled "Betsy Ross." Morning Glory took second place honors and Badger Breeder's entry was third in the beauty division. Corniel De Jong and Ed Vandenberg were co-chairmen for the Fire Fighter Injured in Freak Blaze

OSHKOSH — A freak fire caused major damage to an auto repair shop Wednesday afternoon and sent a fireman to the hospital for treatment of minor burns.

A discarded "wrap-around" windshield acted as a magnifying glass for the sun's rays in a trash shed at the rear of Len Wesner's Auto Repair Shop, 213 W. South Park Ave., and cardboard boxes caught fire shortly before 4 p.m.

The blaze spread into the repair shop through a window and the entire back of the building was on fire before Wesner, who was sanding a car in front of the building, noticed the fire.

Wesner and others pushed two cars out of the garage to avoid damage. Firemen Merton Meyer sustained burns to the fingers of one hand and was treated at Mercy Hospital and then returned to duty.

Two northside fire companies, responding to the alarm were delayed by the Main Street bridge which was open to allow boats to pass.

Rambler Sales

KENOSHA (AP)—For the first time in history, the monthly retail sales of Rambler automobiles topped the 50,000 mark in May, reaching 50,832, American Motors Corp. announced Wednesday. The total is 1,500 above the previous high for one month, 48,475, set in June 1960.

Scholarships to the University of Wisconsin farm short course were presented at the Winneconne High School awards day program Friday to Peter Thies, left, Town of Clayton, and Ronald Spaulding, right, route 1, Larsen. Girl Drum Unit Of Rhinelander To be in Parade

The Belles of Saint Mary's, an all-girl drum and bugle corps from Rhinelander, will be one of the featured units in the Appleton Flag Day parade on Saturday, June 15.

The 55-member unit specializes in precision marching, music and field exhibition and drilling. Members dress in colorful Scotch plaid uniforms, accented with white gloves and spats. During 1962 they traveled 5,000 miles and made 60 public appearances.

The corps was organized in the fall of 1956 by the Rev. Robert Schipper, with Al DiGiacomo as corps director and musical director. The girls range in age from 13 to 17 years.

Since being organized, the corps has traveled more than 40,000 miles, making many appearances in Wisconsin and Michigan. The Rev. John Spanger is now spiritual advisor, and DiGiacomo continues as corps director, assisted by Robert Bastian.

Ground Program Increases Work

Fox Valley Lutheran High School's grounds improvement program has swung into increased progress with the advent of warm weather.

Work on the site of the athletic field on the eastern end of the FVL campus, but work is set for the fall of 1964. The seedling of grass is tentatively set for August, so that it will have at least one year of growth before being used for football.

The track also is tentatively scheduled to be completed sometime this fall.

Can you name the 6 reasons Martini devotees prefer the glorious Gordon's Martini?

1 To this day, the ancient pot still method is used in distilling Gordon's Gin. 2 Only gin from the heart of the run is bottled for Gordon's. 3 Gordon's uses only juniper berries and other choice botanicals aged to the peak of maturity. 4 Gordon's is extraordinarily dry. 5 Gordon's has a distinctively delicate flavour. 6 Gordon's maintains its exceptional quality because it still harks back to Alexander Gordon's original formula created in England in 1769. Reasons enough for enjoying a Glorious Gordon's Martini soon, wouldn't you say?

Trouble in Borneo

Rain, Floods, Warfare Make Corps Life Rough

BY KEYES BEECH
Chicago Daily News Service

BRITISH SARAWAK — America's Peace Corpsmen are carrying on manfully in British Borneo despite armed uprisings and the worst floods in local history.

"It hasn't been easy," confessed
Joe Fox of Washington, D. C., staff.

Peace Corps director for the Kentucky-sized British colony of Sarawak

"I wouldn't say we had had more trouble here than anywhere, but it sometimes seems like that," said Fox, whose wife Gay, a nurse, is also on the Peace Corps staff.

Two Peace Corpsmen got caught up in the Brunei revolt last winter. One was captured and held five days by insurgents then released unharmed. Another was in a town besieged by the rebels.

Safe Place
Despite all the shooting, border raids by Indonesia-backed re-

have been more than 100 years a white face is a good passport in Sarawak.

There are 32 Peace Corpsmen—four of them women—in Sarawak and 60 in North Borneo.

When British troops moved into one town the work of a pretty girl corpsman went into a sharp decline. She reluctantly agreed to a transfer to another post so she could keep her mind on her work.

During recent floods many Peace Corpsmen were isolated for days as rivers rose as much as 50 feet in some places.

Air Drops
Lynn Patterson, a 21-year-old
Ohio girl and 4-H Club organizer found herself distributing relief supplies airdropped by British planes.

Her job was to see that everybody got a fair share.

In another place a 19-year-old Alabama youth who lived on a hill was unexpected host to about 100 villagers whose homes were threatened by flood waters. They brought their dogs, chickens and pigs.

The volunteers are dealing with a multiracial population—Chinese, Dakota and Malay all eager to learn.

The Dakas, who predominate with the more enterprising Chinese a close second, are roughly half the American Indians of Borneo.

Relief Predicted for Taxpayers of U.S.

But Savings Won't Approach Full $10 Billion Reduction Backed by President Kennedy, Writer Says

BY EDMUND LEBRETON
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Against a sea of proposed and forthcoming tax increases, President Kennedy's proposed tax cut may appear to the taxpayer to be getting smaller and smaller and in danger of being swallowed up.
 As a sign of how the tides are running last week the congress man most responsible for the progress of the tax cut legislation introduced a tax-raising bill as well.
 If the Social Security tax hike proposed by chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee becomes law it would soak up some of the funds a general tax cut would leave in private hands. Also, there are built in Social Security tax increases one that became effective this year, others coming.

GOP Hammers Out Stand on Civil Rights

But Senators Mute On Crushing of Southern Filibuster

BY BARRY SCHWEID
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican senators have promised to support additional civil rights legislation. But they remained mute on whether they would try to crush a Southern filibuster.

The Republican position was hammered out Wednesday at the second of two conferences promoted by Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, an ardent supporter of civil rights legislation.

No agreement was reached at the initial two-hour meeting. Then at the end of a three-hour session in late afternoon the Republicans approved a statement saying they will "support further appropriate legislation required to help solve the problems of our nation in the field of civil rights."

Not all the 33 Republican senators attended the closed meetings—the exact number present could not be determined—and Sen. Everett S. Long of Louisiana, chairman of the conference, said there was some division on adopting the statement.

Ayes in Majority
 "I couldn't say it was unanimous," he said "but I can truthfully say I am confident the ayes carried it."

Approved by voice vote the policy statement is not binding on the GOP senators he said.

The Republicans did not examine the question of whether they should try to crush the filibuster. Divisive forces likely would set up in an effort to block new civil rights legislation.

Without substantial Republican support, northern Democrats would be powerless to beat back the Southern since a two-thirds majority of senators voting is needed to invoke cloture.

The Democratic Kennedy administration is known to be preparing a civil rights package, and Javits had urged his GOP colleagues to "go down the line for civil rights legislation in this session of Congress."

Rabinovitz May Succeed Jurist

Democrat Would Fill Post Vacated By Stone's Death

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—Speculation that David Rabinovitz, Wisconsin's national Democratic committeeman, is a leading candidate for appointment as judge of the U.S. District Court for western Wisconsin was revived Wednesday by the visit of a Justice Department representative.

The bench in the court at Madison has been vacant since the death of Judge Patrick T. Stone. A number of possible successors, most of them living in the district, have been mentioned.

Rabinovitz, a labor attorney from Sheboygan, makes his home in the state's eastern district, and his place of residence was believed one of the points under study.

No. 2 Man
 Visiting Sheboygan was John Reilly of Washington, described as the "No. 2" man to Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy. It was understood that Reilly had sought interviews with several persons but only Sheboygan County Judge John G. Buchen was immediately available.

Buchen said Reilly asked "what I thought of Rabinovitz and what my experience with him had been when I was serving as district attorney." Buchen said his report was "generally favorable."

Reilly did not call on Rabinovitz, who said, however, that he met Reilly after he spoke at a Milwaukee meeting.

Reilly also met with U.S. District Court Judges Robert E. Tahan and Kenneth P. Grubb and U.S. Atty. James Brennan of the eastern district but they said the visits were only "courtesy calls."

Drought Forces Hotel To Cancel Celebration

HONG KONG (AP)—Because of this British colony's severe drought, the Hong Kong Hilton has canceled an elaborate week of special events scheduled for the 26-story hotel's opening June 13.

Hong Kong's 3 1/2 million residents are restricted to four hours of tap water every fourth day because of the worst drought in the colony's history.

Democratic Caucus Ousts Vice Chairman Nowakowski

MADISON (AP)—The Assembly Democratic caucus has removed Assemblyman Richard Nowakowski of Milwaukee from his post as caucus vice chairman.

The action an outgrowth of a fight over an anti-discrimination housing bill was taken at a stormy closed door session Wednesday.

It was reported that he had been asked to resign the post, and when he declined, the caucus voted 36-7 to declare the office vacant.

Nowakowski said he was made a "scapegoat on whom to place the blame for the defeat" of the bill, which would have banned discrimination in the sale, lease or rental of housing. He said the caucus was not able to censure all eight Democrats who voted against the bill.

Assembly Democratic Floor leader Robert Huber of West Allis said the action was not taken because of the vote on the bill.

Search for New School For Three Older Boys

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy are hunting for a new school for their three older boys but on second thought have decided against a private boarding school with no Negro pupils.

The boys now attend Our Lady of Victory, an integrated Roman Catholic school in the District of Columbia.

An official of the Landon School for Boys in suburban Bethesda, Md. disclosed Saturday that Kennedy had applied for admission for the three boys and that Robert Jr., 9, had gone so far as to take the school's entrance test. The examinations for Joseph, 10, and David, 7, were put off because of mumps, he said.

Landon's headmaster said the school has no Negro pupils but does have a policy against barring any boy because of race or religion. The boarding school, he

Common Mart Nations Report Citizens Enjoy Boom in Real Income

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The Executive Commission of the European Common Market has reported a boom in the real incomes of families in its six-nation membership.

In its sixth annual report, the commission said Wednesday the real income of families during the 1958-1962 period has risen by 25 per cent in West Germany and Italy.

In the Netherlands and France, real income has increased by 15 per cent and in Belgium and Luxembourg by 10 per cent, the commission said. Total value of internal trade in 1962 was $13.5 billion—double that of 1958.

Rockets Necessary for Mars Trip Could be Ready in Next Decade

Missiles Would Pack Thrusts to 56 Million Pounds, Official Says

BY FRANK CAREY

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A new generation of super-rockets capable of lifting a "convoy" of four million spaceships into orbit could be ready for a manned expedition to Mars in 1975 if the nation decided to make a try then, an industrial space technologist said Thursday.

The rockets, far surpassing anything the United States and presumably even the Soviet Union now has or is developing, would each range up to 380 feet in height, weight up to nearly 40 million pounds, pack thrusts up to 56 million pounds, and be capable of lofting more than a million pounds of payload at a time into earth orbit for a subsequent getaway on the highway to Mars.

Andrew Kalitinsky of the General Dynamics Corp., San Diego, Calif., told about it in making the first report on a government-commissioned study to explore possibilities for developing so-called NOVA launch vehicles.

NOVA has long been a concept in the minds of space engineers. Conceived as a possible good bet for manned planetary missions, it would call for a rocket that would make even the Saturn 5 man-to-moon rocket look puny. The Saturn 5 will pack a 7 1/2-million pound thrust.

Plans Designed
 Kalitinsky reported to a symposium on "the exploitation of Mars" that his firm and the Martin-Marietta Corp. of Baltimore have lately come up with some design configurations that look very promising towards achieving practical "hardware" in a relatively short time, if need be.

Saying these particular configurations would be based on rocket technology already at hand or under development, he declared the development of such gigantic vehicles "could be started immediately, with a high degree of confidence in achieving the predicted operational characteristics, if a decision to try for an early Mars mission, say in 1975, was made in the near future."

Without offering any specific figures, he indicated the cost of building these rockets would be extremely high. He added that if there were no early demand for them, costs could be brought down by slower development—including time to develop techniques for refueling a given booster, refueling it and using it again.

Explorer Scout Units Kick Off Summer Season With Canoe Trips

Valley Council Posts Plan Many Activities to Practice Skills

Warm sunny days trigger the leaders will cap enroute and plan response to outdoor adventure for to arrive at Fremont sometime the Explorer Posts of the Valley Sunday. Mr. Vern Larson will be Council, as two posts kick off the the adult leader in charge. summer season with canoe trips. Explorer Post 55, sponsored by St. Patrick Church, Menasha, will begin its trip Friday. The locale of the three day trip will be the First Methodist Church, Neenah. will embark from Shawano Flambeau Flowage. Eighteen boys for the first leg of their exploration and six leaders will again brave the excursion down the Wolf the white waters of the Flambeau River. Leaving Shawano today, for their eighth trip. Carl Blank, the eighteen boys and their two advisor to the post, said that the trip will give the boys an opportunity to practice Scouting skills. Exploring is a phase of the Scouting program which offers to boys of ages 14 through 17 an experience in six areas, namely, social, vocational, personal fitness, service, citizenship and outdoor. Whether or not a boy has been a former Scout, he may participate in the Explorer program. Every other month, two representatives of each Explorer Unit in the Valley Council come together for a cabinet meeting to discuss ways and means for better exploring in the Valley Council. At the last meeting, it offered the services of its respective units to assist the Council Activities committee.

At the spring Camporee, June 21-23 at Keshena, Explorers will assist in parking, registration, judging, central feeding and acting as guides.

Other Trips
Explorer Post 13, sponsored by the Most Precious Blood Church, New London, is planning a seven-day canoe trip at the region 7 canoe base at Boulder Junction. Eight boys and one leader will begin their trip July 14. Also using the region 7 canoe base as a starting point, Post 2 of First Methodist Church, Appleton, will embark on a seven-day trip starting Aug. 4.

Region 7 canoe base is operated by the Boy Scouts of America, as a point of embarkation for Explorer Units throughout Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana. Posts will obtain food, tentage, canoes and guide services for their trip through the forested lake region of Vilas County.

Explorer Post 8, sponsored by the First Congregational Church, Appleton, has planned its expedition to include a 50-mile canoe trip as well as an outdoor camping trip in the wilds of Canada.

Plan Cruise
Ship 11, sponsored by a group of citizens and meeting at Richmond School in Appleton, is planning its annual cruise up the west shore points of Door County.

Post 25, sponsored by Sacred Heart Church of Appleton, is planning to use the Gardner Dam Camp facilities at Boulder Lake as a jumping off point for canoeing, fishing and camping.

Post 73, sponsored by the Faith Lutheran Church of Appleton, is continuing its Emergency Service program, but is planning week-end canoe trips throughout the summer period. Its super-activity for this year was a trip to the museums of Chicago.

Many of the other Explorer Posts have indicated that they also are making plans for a summer adventure, but have not as yet definitized their itinerary.

Aftermath of Crash Proves More Harmful

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — James F. Kiser wasn't hurt when his car and three others piled up in a collision at a Casper intersection. Kiser got out of his car to check damages to his vehicle.

He slipped on the icy street, fell to the pavement and broke his hip.

Richard W. Mahony, Center, Chairman of the board of Appleton Coated Paper Co., received the 1963 alumni award for meritorious service during Marquette University commencement exercises. Mahony is flanked by the Very Rev. William F. Kelley, S.J., Marquette president, left, and Dr. David J. Carlson, Marquette alumni president. Mahony was graduated from the Marquette College of Business Administration in 1922.

State PTA Congress Will Hold Leadership Program

The Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers will conduct a school of instruction caravan in six communities. The program is designed to develop leadership techniques and "PTA Know-How."

The meetings will be held at the Mellen Public School Thursday, Chippewa Falls High School Friday, Boscobel High School Saturday, Sturgeon Bay High School Sunday, Waupaca High School June 12, and Portage Junior High School June 13. All meetings will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m.

The meetings will stress the importance of program planning and membership, hospitality, publications, and budget and finance. The sessions are open to any interested persons.

Staff Members
The Sturgeon Bay PTA Council will be host for the school of instruction there June 11. Mrs. L. A. Wichmann, council president, 954 Texas St., Sturgeon Bay, will accept reservations for the noon luncheon until Thursday.

Staff members for the caravan at Sturgeon Bay will be Mrs. William Marsh, Madison, president of the Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers; Mrs. Kenneth Bohannon, Sheboygan, and Mrs. George Dinges, Milwaukee, vice presidents; Mrs. Harry Sicula, Milwaukee, district service chairman; Mrs. L. D. Wright, Green Bay, historian; Mrs. Bernard Henkelmann, Green Bay, Eighth District president and secretary of the Wisconsin Congress, and Mrs. Walter Schroeder, Shorewood, past council service chairman.

All PTA units belonging to the Appleton Area PTA Council are members of the Eighth District of the Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers and are represented on the Eighth District board by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Berryman, Appleton, co-presidents of the council.

Former NATO Boss Now Businessman

Norstad Says Military Structure Very Similar to That of Industry

BY JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising ramrod straight from his chair, Gen. Lauris Norstad, former military commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, apologized for a few papers on his broad walnut desk.

"I've only been on the job a short while," he said, "so you see it's pretty cluttered."

The expanse of desk may have seemed disordered to a precise military man. It would, however, pass inspection from any businessman. Norstad is a businessman now.

His office is on the 14th floor of a Fifth Avenue skyscraper, where he presides as president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas International, a business far removed from military affairs.

The handsome, 56-year-old combat and diplomatic veteran, is a recent big-name military man to step into a top industrial position. Before him marched Douglas MacArthur, Chester W. Nimitz, Anthony C. McAuliffe, Lucius D. Clay, Omar N. Bradley, James M. Gavin and other generals and admirals.

Structure Similar

Obviously, despite their lack of experience in the world of profits and losses, military men are considered good businessmen. Why? "My work," said Norstad, "was not technically military. In the service you control tremendous capital investments and you have to come up with your budget. You have a structure similar to what you have here."

Then, more militarily, the retired general explained how it was possible to work the same way within both corporate and military systems.

"First," he said, "you determine the facts. Then you determine the alternatives."

He continued: "There is no substitute for educating yourself, for knowing more about a subject than anyone else. I might be stupid, but I've never learned a substitute for this."

Gen. Clay, director of the Berlin air lift, former president and chairman of Continental Can Co. and now senior partner in the investment firm of Lehman Corp., explained military confidence this way.

"The advantage of a military education is that you must do what you are assigned. This means that you tackle many projects for which you are not equipped but in which you must do a good job."

Gen. McAuliffe offered this explanation.

Military Is Big Business

"Few people appreciate that the military is big business. For any commander his military requirements are relatively minor."

McAuliffe, a handsome man with a twinkle in his eye that must have been with him that day at Bastogne when he answered a German surrender demand with "nuts," is now a vice president of American Cyanamid Corp., a huge chemical firm.

"I ran a post exchange in Europe that sold $175 million worth of goods a year, published one of the biggest newspapers in Europe — Stars and Stripes — and managed a $2-billion construction program," he said.

McAuliffe, who was the top Army man in Europe and later assistant chief of staff, does notice differences. Can a military organization and a corporation be run the same way?

"Of course I say they can but my superiors don't agree. In both areas you deal with people." But, he adds, you can't give orders in business with the same finality as you can in the service.

Presides Over Meetings

Gen. MacArthur still presides at board meetings of the Sperry Rand Corp., Gen. Bradley is chairman of the Bulova Watch Co., Gen. Gavin heads the Arthur D. Little research firm, Gen. J. Lawton Collins is an executive of the drug firm, Pfizer Co. and Admirals Nimitz and Arleigh A. Burke are corporate directors. Such highly informed men are needed by corporations that work with the military.

Military business is big business. In 1961 the military contracted for $22.9 billion of business within the United States alone.

The fact is that in so-called peaceful days, far removed from bullets and battlefields, there are great administrative similarities between corporations and military units.

"The military, to be successful, must be decentralized with strong controls," said Clay. "This is the usual pattern: big business seeks and does, in fact, establish organizationally they are very much related."

It is for this reason, Clay believes, that former high-ranking officers fit into big business more easily than into small business.

Hortonville's Recreation Program Set

HORTONVILLE — The Hortonville recreation program will open Monday morning according to John Amburgy, program director. Registration will take place Monday, beginning at 9 a.m. A 50-cent insurance fee is required. The program is open to children from grades one through eight. Tuesday evenings, the Youth Center will be open from 6:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. Thursday evenings have been set aside for adult softball.

The program is sponsored jointly by the Recreation Department, the school and the Commercial Club of Hortonville.

Golden Age Queen Contest Deadline Set for June 12

Deadline for entries in Outagamie County's June Dairy Month "Golden Age Queen" contest is June 12.

A committee will interview candidates and select a winner. Judging will be based on longevity and will consider activity and moral welfare based on acceptance of wholesome dairy foods. Candidates names can be submitted to Mrs. Walter Dreier, 5640 N. Richmond St., Appleton, or to Mrs. Donald VandeHei and Mrs. Walter Jurgens, both route 3, Seymour.

Mr. Builder:

You are cordially invited to attend our OPEN HOUSE for builders only on Friday, June 7, from 1 to 6 P.M. to see facilities for design and manufacture of custom homes, trusses and building components.

June 8 will be open to builders and the general public from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M. We would be most pleased to have you visit us and inspect our new plant on either of the above dates.

Very Truly Yours

Soviet Scientist Hints At Interplanetary Shots

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Soviet space scientist Anatoly Blagonravov has hinted at new interplanetary probes this year.

Blagonravov is the chief Soviet delegate to the annual space symposium of COSPAR, the Committee On Space Research.

Blagonravov's two-hour report gave no details on what is planned but reported some of the findings from 71 scientific rocket launchings he said were made by the Soviet Union last year.

Foot Cramps Caused By Various Defects

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, 31, has had foot cramps in bed for two years. Sometimes she has to get up and walk. Is there anything she can do about this? — Mrs. E. W.

Molner

This sort of cramping very often is due either to a defect in the arch or faulty shoes, or a combination of both.

Heels may be too high, shoes too short or narrow. As the foot relaxes after a hard day in the wrong shoe, the cramps result.

By putting her weight on the foot, she stretches the tense muscles and gets rid of the cramp.

Massaging the muscles before going to bed may help prevent cramps.

But since the trouble has continued for two years, I think she ought to get permanent correction rather than rely on temporary relief. These cramps are no fun.

She should see either an orthopedist or a podiatrist (bone specialist or foot specialist) to find out whether she needs different shoes, special arch supports or other treatment.

Dear Doctor: I am troubled with cramps, mostly in my toes, during the night. Could this be a muscle ailment or a diet deficiency? — Mrs. L.

See remarks above. Although you did not mention your age, I wonder whether you may not be a bit older than the woman of 31. Some people, as they grow older, think that they don't need milk—or other sources of calcium. So yes, your cramps might be the result of such a diet deficiency. You remark that the cramps are mostly in your toes, indicating that sometimes they are elsewhere, which lends weight to the deficiency possibility. You might find that my leaflet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," might be helpful. (The leaflet is available in return for five cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send requests to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper.)

Dear Dr. Molner: What are tongue tonsils? Are people born with them? Do they ever need attention? — Mrs. W. B.

These are lingual tonsils — at the back of the tongue.

The tonsil tissue in general forms a sort of ring in the nose and throat — ordinary tonsils at the sides; the adenoids, which are part of the tongue tonsils, at the

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking "no-baby" pills for over two years. I have always had my period at regular 28-day intervals, but for two months I have had three a month. Could the pills cause this? — C. I.

Quite likely. This is called "break-through bleeding" which, out any harm to health. Just be is known to occur with this medication. Report it to your doctor; it is serious or injurious to health.

Appleton Firm Gets Kaukauna Contract

KAUKAUNA — The common council awarded Earl Kerrigan, Kaukauna, $4,623 and Appleton, the contract for side-Henry Verbruggen, Little Chute, walk work in the city for low bid $5,500. The Kerrigan bid amounts to $1,479 for 4,350 square feet of new 4-inch walk and $2,142 for replacing 6,300 square feet of damaged 4-inch walk. A total of 650 square feet of new 6-inch walk will cost $273 and replacing 700 square feet of damaged 6-inch walk will cost $294.

The board accepted the bid of Joseph Van Daalwyk for $8,483 for short runs of storm and sanitary sewer installations in various parts of the city. Van Daalwyk's bid was accepted after low bid of Bower Brothers was rejected as incomplete.

Other Storm Sewer

A request from Kaukauna High School to have storm sewer extended in the rear of the high school to permit construction of tennis courts was held for future study. Council members indicated the projects would cost about $6,000 and money for the work was not included in the 1963 budget. School officials were advised to construct courts in available areas where storm sewer was not needed.

A request from the village of Little Chute to have village storm sewer lines, draining Hayes, Fillmore and Riverside Drive areas, connect to the Idlewild culvert in Kaukauna was laid over for further study until it can be determined whether this additional water might damage other property in the area.

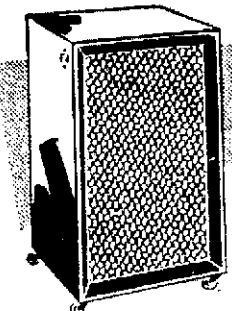

Employee Insurance

A plan for employees to continue participation in hospitalization and surgical insurance after retirement was held over for further study. Action was deferred until the finance committee secures information on the provisions of the policy and the possible impact on premiums.

The city assessor and planning commission were instructed to appraise all city owned lands and determine which could be available for sale and which should be retained for possible future development.

Council members approved a resolution entering into agreement with the Chicago and North Western Railway which would permit the electric utility to have power lines crossing railroad property about 200 feet south of the Dodge Street crossing.

Watch for the Cookie Wagon!

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

When four gaily decorated station wagons travel to the four corners of Appleton between 10 a. m. and noon Saturday, there'll be a clown aboard each one and a load of homemade baked goodies. The weekend event also culminates four months of planning and a flurry of last-minute baking for 55 members of the Appleton Y's Menettes. B-Day . . . or baking day . . . will be Friday in all 55 kitchens with every Y's Menette responsible for triple batches of one favorite recipe or three homemade contributions from three different recipes.

Besides a variety of breads, cakes, pies, rolls or bar cookies, there will be more than 100 dozen Clown Cookies ready. The cookies . . . all 1,200 of them . . . were baked this week by crews of women in the homes of four members. The Clown Cookies were so popular in the organization's first sale last year that they have become the trademark of the Y's Menettes annual baking venture. Actually, they are the only real cookie in the sale. Others available are all of the bar type.

The idea for this gigantic, all-out, rolling culinary expedition started last year when the Y's Menettes were seeking a way to raise money for the Appleton YMCA building fund. Being homemakers with families to feed three times a day, they cannily decided to stick to a field they knew so well . . . food preparation. From there, the way became clear and the idea of a big bake sale with a bit of drama thrown in sprouted into the present activity.

Planning for this year's event began in February with Mrs. Fred Kafura Jr. and Mrs. Willard Smith as co-chairmen. Mrs. Bart Hammond was named cookie chairman. Other members with specific jobs included Mrs. John Harkins, publicity; Mrs. Jack Worthen and Mrs. Roy Wittwer Jr. posters, and Mrs. Keith Wieckert, in charge of car decoration and routes for the sale.

Assistants on the project are Mrs. Dwight Logan, Mrs. John Peckham, Mrs. James Vahey, Mrs. William Melzer, Mrs. Richard Calder, Mrs. Don Sturtevant, Mrs. George Petersen, Mrs. Robert Barlament, Mrs. Richard Uehling, Mrs. William Chandler and Mrs. Gunnard Reynolds.

The committees have prepared well, selecting tested recipes with care to provide variety and even preparing for that bug-a-boo . . . rain. Should it rain Saturday, the sale will be conducted from the decorated wagons on the parking lots of the Red Owl Store on Wisconsin Avenue and Park 'N Market on N. Meade Street.

The Clown Cookies were all made from the same butter cookie recipe, shown elsewhere, and their flavoring was varied with the use of either vanilla or lemon flavoring. Another suggestion would be the use of almond or even anise flavorings. The cookie recipe originated from the recipe file of Mrs. Willard Smith.

Other recipes featured on the wagons include Mrs. Thomas Mann's Crushed Pecan Pie, and Lemon Bars, Mrs. John Harkins' Apricot Bread, Mrs. Jack Brauer's Chocolate Sno-Cap Cake and Mrs. Smith's kuchen variation. Here they are for "borrowing" by cooks who enjoy baking.

- Crushed Pecan Pie
- 3 eggs
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1 cup light corn syrup
 - 1 cup pecan halves, ground medium or fine
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1 unbaked pie shell (9-inch)
 - 8 pecan halves for garnish
- Beat eggs and sugar thoroughly with beater until thick. Well-beaten eggs make a pie lighter. Add syrup, ground nuts and vanilla. Pour into pastry shell; garnish top circle of pecans. Bake in 300-degree oven for one hour.
- Lemon Bars
- 1/2 cup flour
 - 1/3 cup soft butter
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1/2 cup shredded coconut
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder

A Successful Trick in preparing the Clown Cookie dough for cutting is to roll it thinly and do it quickly with as little handling as possible. Here Mrs. Eugene Brinkman, left, and Mrs. Fred Kafura Jr. perform the job with skill.

The Kitchen of Mrs. Eugene F. Brinkman, 213 W. Marquette St., was a busy place when her corps of Y's Menette "bakers" gathered to prepare, bake and decorate about 25 dozen Clown Cookies for the organization's traveling bake sale in Appleton Saturday. The same activity was going on this week at the homes of three other members who volunteered their kitchens . . . Mrs. Gordon Steinberg, 925 E. Glendale Ave.; Mrs. Robert Goell, 223 E. Frances St., and Mrs. Earl Burr, 116 E. Marquette St.

Clown Cookies

- 1 c. soft butter
- 1/2 c. sugar
- 1 egg
- 3 tsp. flavoring
- 3 c. sifted flour
- 1/2 tsp. baking powder

Cream together thoroughly butter, sugar, egg. Stir in flavoring. Sift flour, baking powder together; stir into creamed mixture. Chill dough. Roll out to thin, 1/16 inch thickness. Cut into shapes. Place cut-out cookies on ungreased baking sheet. Bake until delicately browned, about 5 minutes in 425-degree oven. Decorate with colored frostings when cool. Recipe makes about 84 medium-sized cookies.

Mrs. Willard Smith, co-chairman with Mrs. Fred Kafura Jr. of the Appleton Y's Menettes' traveling bake sale, carefully packs the finished Clown Cookies side by side without touching in cardboard boxes. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Dairy Month Recipe Contests Underway

Recipe contests featuring main dishes using dairy products are being held in Outagamie and Calumet counties in observance of June Dairy Month.

Miss Mary-Beth Kuester, home economist for the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., heads the Outagamie County event and Miss Joan Prochnow, home agent is chairman for the Calumet County contest program.

Four weekly winners will be named in Calumet County. Outagamie will have two contests, each with two junior and two senior winners. Both counties will hold a bake-off later in the summer to determine the county winner to compete in a district television bake-off in September in Green Bay.

Recipes containing two or more dairy products are eligible as entries and the contests are open to any resident in his or her respective county. Rules require that each contestant submit only one entry.

Outagamie Entries
In Outagamie, entries postmarked on and before June 15 and those postmarked during the rest of the month will make up the two contests. The total of eight winners from both contests will include four senior winners, 21 years or older, and four in the junior division that includes young people up to 21 years of age.

Outagamie entries are to be sent to June Dairy Month Contest, in care of Miss Kuester, Box 1007, Appleton. Prizes will be awarded to the eight winners who compete in the county bake-off at the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. and special prizes will go to the top junior and senior winner at the bake-off.

The first week in the Calumet County contest closes Sunday, and a winner will be chosen each successive week throughout June, according to Miss Prochnow. Each winner will receive a prize and no recipes will be accepted postmarked later than June 30.

Calumet Entries
The Calumet County entries are

Mrs. K. B. F.: "We bought an antique bed which originally had ropes across the frame to support the mattress, as beds of the time did. We'd like to modernize the bed for use without changing it anymore than is necessary. Of course standard bedding won't fit, but can't the right size mat- tress and boxspring be made to order? The big problem, we think, is supporting them since we'd rather not alter the side rails. Can you make suggestions?"

Stores know which bedding manufacturers will take custom orders and will attend to this important matter for you. The side rails of the bed probably shouldn't be depended on to sup- port the mattress and boxspring weight even if they could easily be altered to do so. Use an ad- justable metal bed frame for the purpose. Set it inside the side rail framing, attached to the head- board only.

daytime wear. Neutrals are both becoming and versatile. But do reverse your thinking on what the neutrals are. From the black-brown-navy beige range they have widened their scope to include such misty shades as willow and saffron. In the evening you have carte blanche to kick up your heels in brights and lights. But remember that the brighter or lighter a shade, the more attention it calls to the foot. So beware if there are times when you wish you could sit on your feet. Then a compromise is in order and actually it could prove a very subtle fashion gambit. Wear willow shoes with a pastel dress and watch the fashion fireworks. (Copyright 1963)

Sauteed Vegetables Retain Their Flavor

BY MALCOLM R. HERBERT
Chicago Daily News Service

A chef must vary his vegetable dishes. And he needs a new method of cooking vegetables — one that will not detract from their natural flavors.

There is a way. It is called sauteing, and is similar to sauteing of meats. It is easy and requires no lengthy preparations. Clarified butter or salad oil is used. It is pre-heated and then the vegetables are added. They are tossed or turned frequently so that they retain their moisture. Cook them quickly.

Garnish sauteed vegetables with fresh chopped parsley.

Sauteed vegetables go well with boiled foods, cold cuts, baked fish and omelets.

Here is a quick, easy dish that is very good with broiled steak.

Sauteed Cucumbers

3 large cucumbers

Salted water

2 tablespoons butter

Salt

Peel cucumbers. Halve them lengthwise and remove seeds. Cut into one inch pieces. Parboil in salted water for four to five minutes. Drain and dry well. Saute cucumbers in butter until well browned. Add sugar and salt to taste. Recipe makes six servings.

in the labor force once trailed the proportion of unmarried women. Today the numbers are about the same.

Women still quit work when they have their first child. But the age-work pattern now shows them streaming back into the labor force a few years later. Compared with 1940, the proportion of women in their late twenties working today has risen 35 per cent and those in their late forties 47 per cent.

About 30 per cent of the women 60 to 64 are working, which is twice the 1940 proportion.

Many in their forties and fifties have children in college and two paychecks often become a necessity because since 1947 the cost of sending a student through a public college has risen by 54 per cent through a private college by 70 per cent.

Separate Friends, Hyenas

One of the hardest things for a bridge player to do is to tell his friends from the hyenas. Take a look at your opponents now and then. One of them may be your friend, but the other is ready to spring on you if you falter for a moment.

Put yourself in the South seat playing at four hearts. West leads the jack of diamonds, and it is up to you to plan the play.

If you play the queen of diamonds from dummy, East wins with the ace, cackling and howling and drooling all at once. East returns the ten of clubs and West takes two club tricks.

This is all very unfriendly. You must eventually lose a spade trick and perhaps you complain that there are hyenas on both sides of you.

Not so. East is the only hyena. West is your friend. He will respond if you show him just a bit of affection.

Begin Early

If you're going to win West's friendship you must begin early. Let West win the first trick with the jack of diamonds.

If West continues with another diamond, you ruff out the ace, draw trumps, and discard a club on dummy's remaining diamond. Now you can lose only one club trick and your contract is home.

Even if West fails to continue the diamonds at the second trick, your plan is to set up one of dummy's diamonds by ruffing out East's ace.

East cannot interfere with your plot by overtaking the first trick with the ace of diamonds. If he does this, sets up both the king and queen of diamonds in dummy. You will lose a diamond and two clubs, but you can then draw trumps and discard two spades on dummy's king and queen of diamonds.

Nancy Nelson

Miss Nelson, Mr. Svacina To Marry

MENASHA — Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Nancy Nelson to Lloyd Svacina by her mother, Mrs. Gladys Nelson, 844 Manitowoc St. Mr. Svacina's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roman Svacina, route 2, Fremont.

The bride-elect was graduated from Menasha High School. Her fiancé is a graduate of Winneconne High School and is employed at Wisnac Excavating Co., Neenah.

A fall wedding is being planned.

boiling water until tender. Drain and cool. Mix and sift together dry ingredients; add nuts. Beat egg; add milk and melted butter. Mix egg mixture with dry ingredients; add apricots. Stir only until moistened. Let stand 20 minutes before baking in greased loaf pan, 9 by 5 by 3 inches. Bake in 350-degree oven for one hour.

- Chocolate Sno-Cap Cake
1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3/4 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter
3/4 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted
1/2 cup sour cream

- 2 reserved egg whites
1 teaspoon vinegar
2 cups sifted confectioners sugar
1 cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon vanilla
12 pecan halves (optional)
- Sift the flour, then measure; re-sift with soda and salt. Cream butter; add sugar gradually, creaming until mixture is light and fluffy. Add one whole egg and the yolks of the two other eggs, reserving the two egg whites for the topping. Beat the mixture thoroughly. Add melted and cooled chocolate, blending well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour cream to creamed mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Blend well after each addition. Turn batter into greased and floured 13 by 9 by 2-inch pan.

Beat two reserved egg whites with vinegar until soft mounds form. Gradually beat in confectioners sugar, beating until mixture stands in very stiff, glossy peaks. Fold chopped pecans and vanilla into meringue. Drop by heaping tablespoonfuls onto cake batter. This should make about 12 meringue mounds. Top each mound with pecan half, if desired. Bake in 325-degree oven for about 35 minutes, or until cake is done when tested. Cool before serving. Cake may be cut into squares.

- Basic Kuchen
3/4 cup scalded milk
1/3 cup soft shortening
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1 ounce compressed yeast
1 tablespoon sugar
3 cups sifted flour (about)
- While milk is being scalded, put shortening, one-fourth cup sugar and salt into large bowl. Pour scalded milk over mixture; stir until shortening is completely melted. Add beaten eggs gradually. Combine yeast with one tablespoon sugar, mixing with fork until yeast liquefies; add dissolved yeast to lukewarm mixture. Mix well, then add flour gradually, beating continuously until dough is smooth and too stiff to mix with spoon. (Use as little flour as possible and not more than three cups.)

Turn dough out onto floured cloth; knead gently two or three minutes, adding flour if needed but only enough to manipulate dough. Place dough in well-greased bowl, turning greased side up. Cover with waxed paper and then a towel and let stand until doubled in size in warm place away from drafts. Turn out on lightly floured cloth; knead about a half minute. Place into greased bowl again, cover and allow to double in size a second time.

After second rising, turn dough out onto lightly floured cloth and shape as desired. Let dough stand about an hour before baking. Recipe makes one large coffee cake or two medium-sized ones.

- Pineapple Braid
1 recipe basic kuchen
Melted butter
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon cold water
1/2 cup crushed pineapple with juice
2 tablespoons sugar
Pinch of salt
1 egg yolk
- Divide full kuchen dough into three equal pieces. Roll each portion into strand, giving slight twist and making each strand about same length. Place strands together and braid. Brush with butter and let rise one hour. Bake 20 minutes in 400-degree oven. Mix cornstarch with tablespoon of cold water, stirring until smooth. Cook cornstarch mixture, pineapple, sugar and salt together until mixture is smooth and thick, stirring constantly. When mixture is slightly cool, add yolk of egg. When the coffee cake braid has baked 20 minutes, place this filling on top of braid by teaspoonfuls and continue baking, about five minutes longer, until cake is done.

French Bread Idea

French bread that's to be heated doesn't always have to have garlic-flavored butter spread between the cuts. You can use butter mixed with grated cheese and add an herb if you like.

Roses Are Best Buy In June

Roses are in plentiful supply at retail florists and are considered the best flower buys in June. Follow these steps and your roses will last much longer.

When the florist delivers your roses immediately recut the stems diagonally with a sharp knife. Place them in a container of very warm deep water. This will expand the stem pores, permitting the water to reach the blooms and provide life-giving moisture.

Then remove all foliage including the thorns below the water line and add a commercial flower preservative. If stem ends get soft or decayed recut the stems diagonally to remove that portion. Later when the flowers begin to wilt recut the stems and place them again in very warm water.

50th Wedding Anniversary To be Marked

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wiese, 797 E. Eldorado St., will observe their golden wedding anniversary Saturday noon at the Pioneer Room of the Conway Hotel. An open house is planned that evening at their home.

The couple was married in 1913 at the Freedom Moravian Church. They resided on a farm near Five Corners for twenty-five years before moving to Appleton. Mr. Wiese was a building contractor previous to his retirement two years ago.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

Host Is Snob

Dear Louise: We were recently at a dinner party where the host obviously considers himself an aridite man. He has a Ph.D. and never lets you forget it. At one point I overheard him whisper to his wife, "Why did you invite them? They don't mix well here." No names were mentioned but from some of his other remarks I feel strongly that he was referring to my husband and me. I thought he was one of the rudest men I've ever known and was greatly tempted to leave early but since I thought he was completely wrong and out of deference to the hostess and other guests, I uncomfortably stuck it out. What would you have done and how would you act toward this man in the future?

Louise Davis Answers: What would I have done? I'd have stuck it out the same as you even if I had conclusive proof that the host was referring to my husband and me. Had you obeyed the impulse to leave you would have cheapened yourself and you would have declared open warfare. Anyone who continues to let it be known that he is a doctor of philosophy is as much of a bore as a name-dropper. He can have the Ph.D. that gets him a Ph.D. but his education and breeding are lacking in many respects. If he has a delightful, interesting and charming wife I wouldn't mind inviting the couple to dinner unless the man overshadowed everyone else with his high and mighty lingo and ways and puts a damper on the party. The man's comment to his wife that they "don't mix well here" was rude and out of place. Even so, the finger may not have been pointed at you and your husband. The best thing to do is to forgive for he knows not what he is doing.

Your Problems

Penny-Pinching Unnecessary For Dollar-Crazy Bachelor

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son who is 29 years old makes his home with me. He is attractive, well built, has an excellent professional rating, makes a good $18,000 a year and he has the first dime he ever earned. If I didn't throw out his old shoes and suits he'd wear them till they fell apart. He will not take out a girl because it costs money. He has invited a few girls to the house for dinner but that's as far as he goes.

For Christmas, Mother's Day and my birthday he gives me a check because according to him "You can't beat money." I don't know how he got so dollar-crazy. His father was never like that and heaven knows I am not.

He has few friends because he doesn't want to go any place that costs money. I am heart sick that he is missing out on so much that is worthwhile and interesting. He won't even take a trip although I know he has $43,000 in the bank. What can I do?—His Mother

Dear Mother: He needs professional help but of course he won't get it because it would cost something. Ask him which relatives or charities he wants to leave his money to. Your question may jar him into realizing if he doesn't enjoy his hard-earned loot someone else will.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I can't sign my name to this because if the fellows ever heard I wrote to Ann Landers they would die laughing. I had seven dates with a nice girl. We got along great and she was a perfect lady. The other night a gang of us fellows were talking about girls and there was plenty of bragging. I don't want to be the only guy who didn't have something to brag about so I said a few things about this girl which were not true.

Well, her best friend's brother was in the crowd only I didn't dig the connection till later. He went back and blabbed everything. She passed the information on to the girl yesterday at school. The girl said she never wanted to see me again.

I am sick about this and want to square things. What can I do?—Hate Myself

Dear Hate Yourself: You've had it, Buster, and it couldn't have happened to a bigger louse. Your chances for squaring things are mighty slim but go to each of the guys and admit you lied. The word may sift back to her and perhaps she'll forgive you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am going to a very important party in a few weeks with an awfully nice boy. I am worried about something and if you could settle it I'm sure I would have peace of mind.

This boy who asked me isn't very sophisticated and I'm afraid he won't buy me a corsage. I will feel uncomfortable without it because all the girls expect it. I have an artificial flower which I could wear in case I don't get a live corsage. Would this be right or wrong?—Miss In Question

Blue Cheese Used in This Potato Salad

This recipe for all American potato salad is reminiscent of the old fashioned kind with one important flavor addition. That's the zesty tang of American blue cheese.

Serve this salad cold from the refrigerator if the picnic is at home or pack it in a tightly sealed plastic container tucked in the soft drink cooler or portable refrigerator box.

Potato Salad
6 medium red potatoes, cooked in jackets
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup sliced green onions with tops
2 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Peel potatoes while still warm

Cut potatoes in cubes, sprinkle with sugar, vinegar and salad oil. Let stand in refrigerator for several hours. Add celery, green onions, sliced eggs and salt.

Mash blue cheese well with fork. Blend with mayonnaise until smooth. Thin with lemon juice. Add to potato mixture, mixing lightly but well. Chill.

Popular Seasonings
Nowadays recipes often call for catchup and chili sauce, tabasco and Worcestershire plus soy sauce so it's a good idea to have these on your kitchen seasoning shelves.

Prom Night Tragedies May End Hopes, Dreams

BY JOY MILLER
NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season of graduation and senior proms, a time in which children become adults overnight and their parents age noticeably.
And school officials?
A Maryland principal, Arnold N. Fleagle of Walkersville High, says June, a very critical month, is "one of those times when principals hold their breath and talk to kids and parents. Twelve years of planning and hope can go down the drain in one night."
Most school officials agree that unchaperoned all-night parties and joy rides ending in disastrous crashes are things of the past. A survey by the Associated Press bureaus across the country indicates that the schools, with the help of parents, think they have the situation pretty well in hand.
Held Ahead of Time
Sometimes proms are banned. Other times they're held days or weeks ahead of graduation to dampen the excessive exuberance that comes with end of school.
Typical of many celebrations are the Omaha senior banquets or proms which break up late enough that authorities feel students have run out of steam. Assistant superintendent Owen Knutzen says all-night parties are banned and "we'd jump all over parents if we knew about any."
But other parents and school officials have backed off the problem of all-night parties to take a long, thoughtful look and decide, if you can't lick 'em, join 'em.
This means that adults thoroughly chaperone the affairs, enforce rules of conduct such as no readmittance once the youngsters leave — to eliminate occasional forays into parked cars—and no drinking.
Rules on Dress
How the promenaders dress is up to the individual classes, except that all schools frown upon very low cut gowns. In Denver's parochial schools, among others, the rule is more strict: girls can't display any bare shoulders.
In Prescott, Ark., the PTA has been successful for 10 years with a banquet, dance, midnight movie and 4 a.m. breakfast and religious service.
Maryland's deputy State Superintendent of Schools, Dr. David W. Zimmerman says all-night drinking parties used to cause trouble. Now numerous all-night non-drinking parties held under parental supervision have resulted in improved school-community relations.

Some seniors, though, insist there are "scads" of unchaperoned parties, including jaunts to Washington for drinking and to Baltimore for better restaurants.
The parents' promenade in Barberton, Ohio, is typical of parent-sponsored affairs designed to lure youngsters away from hazardous celebrations. It operates this way:
Parents Hold Reins
After the prom given by the juniors for the seniors ends at 11:30 p.m., the seniors are escorted to another building. Civic leaders and school officials serve the kids dinner prepared by the parents. The young people dance some more, watch a show produced by the parents. Finally breakfast is served and the seniors go to church around 6:30 a.m.
In Dallas, where traditionally the proms are formal school dances held at a downtown hotel, parents arrange an all-night dancing party at a country club with breakfast later. Many of the young celebrants, however, get so tired by 4:30 a.m., they're taken home to bed without waiting for breakfast.
The Kiwanis Club rents the dance hall for a post-prom party in Laconia, N. H. And in Nashua, N. H., a bank sponsors an all-night rock 'n' roll session after the prom. This practice started several years ago on the initiative of a bank employee whose child was involved in a prom night auto wreck.
Topeka's high schools sponsor post-prom, theater parties that end about 2:30 or 3 a.m. After that, parents are informed firmly that the responsibility is all theirs.
Night Clubs, Hotels
In more sophisticated cities activities after the prom sound pretty grownup. In San Francisco senior dances end at 11, but often are followed by late dinner dancing at top hotels. Some private parties go on until dawn.
Most seniors of New York City's 86 high schools hold their proms

IF YOU REALLY UNDERSTOOD MY CREATIVE NEEDS, MARTIN — YOU WOULDN'T GET MAD WHEN SUPPER'S LATE!

at a hotel, and from there go on to a night club, then home.
But no matter where it is, Miami or Pretty Prairie, Kan., parents have the prom happen to them only once per child. For long-suffering school officials it comes ever yyear, and sometimes that seems too often.

Live Within Your Income Retirement Budgets Need Planning Well in Advance

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management
If you're in your 40s or 50s, you are probably beginning to consider how you will make financial ends meet when retirement time comes. The following letter shows how you can get a preview of your situation before you are face to face with adjusting to a retirement income.
Dear Miss Feeley:
I enjoy reading your column and thought I would like to let you know how I solved our problem.
My husband had a good job, making about $500 a month take-home pay, but we never seemed to be able to save much or stay on a budget. Five years ago he said: "I'm thinking about retiring. Do you think we can live on my pension?"
This is $234 a month, plus a Veteran's pension of about $78 a month. No Social Security. The money is clear with no withholdings of any kind. First thing I did was list all my expenses that had to be paid over the year and divided it by 12. I allowed some extra and even figured on a Christmas Club.
After putting my budget money away, we are left with about $140 a month for groceries, operating the car, clothing recreation, etc.
This first year was the hardest. But now everything is running smooth and some months I have some left over. This I put away and start over new each month. Last December I had about $400 extra which could be used for any emergency. We do not skimp and do have what we want.
Of course, there are only two of us, and the house and car are ours. But why couldn't we have done this years ago? I guess when you know you've got to do something it can be done.
Mrs. W.L., Waterford, N.Y.
Dear Mrs. L.:
Necessity's a wonderful incentive! Maybe other couples who are wondering if they can live on their retirement funds will follow your example—and find out ahead of time.
Dear Miss Feeley:
A friend of mine had a will made out and left it at home in a dresser drawer — where the prince chewed it to bits. Now she would like to have another will made. Is it all right for her to state the other will was destroyed?
Mrs. T.C., West Chicago, Ill.
Dear Mrs. D.:
I should think a copy of your friend's will would be in her lawyer's possession. However, if not, she can have a new will drawn up and the lawyer will word it so that it takes precedence over any previous will she made.
Dear Miss Feeley:
When we moved into this apartment our rent was $75 a month and we took our clothes to the laundromat. Some months later I acquired a used wringer washing machine which our landlord and his wife permitted us to use for an extra $5 a month.
We were told we couldn't buy an automatic washer because it would cost too much to use. My problem is this—how much money does it cost to operate an automatic washer including the cost of electricity, water and gas to heat the hot water tank? My laundry amounts to a maximum of 10 loads a week.
Mrs. M.S., Baltimore
Dear Mrs. S.:
You can estimate the cost of operating an automatic washer at approximately three cents per load. This covers electricity and water. It's not so easy to figure in the cost of heating a gas hot water tank, however, when all household needs are supplied from this source.
I would guess that there are other reasons aside from cost for your landlord's objection to your using an automatic washer. Perhaps it has to do with installation, expense of extra pipe and so forth.
(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of this newspaper.)

Many People Indignant
BY EDDIE GILMORE
VOLGOGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP)—This is the city that used to be known as Stalingrad. "Originally," said the man in the restaurant, "this city became great because of Stalin."

"Then, after the great victory of Stalingrad, Stalin became great because of this city."

The man looked the picture of dejection as he added "Now it's all gone. Gone. And we're nothing."

The way the Soviets changed the name of this city on the high west bank of the Volga forms a curious footnote to history.

This bustling city of 700,000 souls functioned for four days without a name.

Think of how it would be to grow up a New Yorker, a Philadelphian, a Chicagoan, a Houstonian, or a San Franciscan, and then overnight discover you're living in a place without a name.

Four days and nights you just don't exist on the map.

"It was a very strange feeling," said A. A. Pushkarev, a dental assistant. Nobody told us anything. Nothing was explained. The paper didn't come out. We were confused and dumbfounded.

Things began happening the morning of Nov. 5, 1961.

Inhabitants of Stalingrad woke up to find that a 30-foot statue of Joseph Stalin had vanished.

But the place was still Stalingrad.

Then, on the morning of Nov. 7, the large sign, "STALIN-GRAD," at each end of the city's railway station disappeared.

The mysterious powers—at work during the night and early morning—also mounted the roof of the new Stalingrad Hotel and tackled the big neon sign. They must have had a hint of what was going to happen for they dismantled only the "Stalin" part of the sign.

Tourists had come from distant lands to visit Stalingrad to see the city that had risen from rubble and ruin to become a modern metropolis.

They visited the battlegrounds as people visited the battlefields of France after World War I.

Yet overnight it had become a nameless place.

Then, on the morning of Nov. 11, the newspaper announced that Stalingrad would be known as Volgograd.

"God knows I hated and feared Stalin," said Galya Batalova, a skilled worker in a factory, "but a lot of people were indignant but others welcomed the change."

2 Injured In Mishaps
Waupaca County Police Check Four Accidents

WAUPACA — Two people were injured in separate traffic accidents during the weekend, county police reported.

Frank S. Bartell, 70 Beaver Dam, received cuts on the head about 4:15 p.m. Friday when his car went off U.S. 10 about three miles west of Fremont and fell into a cattle underpass.

Bill Dyda, 48, route 2, Mosinee, a passenger in a car driven by Conrad Sitke, route 1, Mosinee, received a cut on the left leg below the knee about 4 p.m. Sunday when the car was involved in an accident on State 54 near the Tank Road intersection in Northport. He was taken to the New London Community hospital. The Sitke car was going east on 54 and a car driven by George F. Sigmund, 61 Milwaukee, was going south on the Tank Road.

A car driven by John F. Thorne, 21, route 4, Waupaca, struck a deer about 11:50 p.m. Friday on State 22, 54 and 110, 6.5 miles south of Manawa. Thorne was driving south east when the mishap occurred.

Erich C. Kleditz, 17, route 4, Waupaca was driving south on County E nine miles north of Waupaca when the car crossed State 161 and rolled over two times and came to a stop on the south side of 161 about 4:35 p.m. Thursday. Kleditz told county policeman George Meating the gasoline pedal stuck and he lost control of the car.

Lucy Likely to Get Fourth Term

State Democratic Chairman Uncertain About Candidacy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — Patrick J. Lucy, of Madison, the most powerful state Democratic organization leader of modern times, probably will be given a fourth two-year term as chairman of the Democratic state committee at the party's state delegate convention at LaCrosse, June 22.

Although Lucy has not said that he is a candidate and continues to say that he has not yet made up his mind whether he wants to keep his command post most of the ranking Democratic politicians assume that he will be returned to his office. That includes Gov. John W. Reynolds, who is a long-time friend of the sometimes controversial party machine chief, and leaders of the Democratic minority in the legislature including several who opposed Lucy to earlier conventions.

No Other Candidate
Lucy's strength apparently is indicated by the fact that no other candidate for the chairmanship has appeared, although only two years ago no less a person than Gaylord Nelson, then governor, was publicly quarrelling with Lucy and demanding his ouster.

One of the cruises of Lucy's hesitation about continuing in the unpaid and sometimes arduous job of running the party machinery is the reluctance of Mrs. Lucy to have him continue such service.

But party insiders noted that when Lucy last visited Washington, he was informed that he and Mrs. Lucy would head the U.S. delegation to an international trade fair in Cyprus late in June.

Widow Named Estate's Heir

Mrs. Ann Adams, 324 W. Seymour St., widow of Dr. Wilbert A. Adams, who died May 29 while visiting in Appleton, has been named heir to her husband's estate.

A hearing to name an executor of the estate will be held in Outagamie County Court Branch 1 July 2. Value of the estate has been estimated at over $20,000. Dr. Adams' will is on file in probate court.

after the Democratic state convention. The Lucy's will reach Cyprus by way of Athens, Greece. There is some speculation that the Kennedy administration bestowed that patronage as a gentle reminder to the state chairman's wife of the rewards of political leadership. She is of Greek descent and reportedly is pleased by the government assignment.

Lucy is one of the most intimate associates of President John F. Kennedy, among the state political organization leaders of the country, as a result of his early espousal of the president's candidacy which led to the Kennedy triumph in the Wisconsin presidential preference primary three years ago.

A month or more ago Lucy sounded out some of his friends about their interest in succeeding him in the chairmanship. But there has been no mention of probable successors during the last few weeks.

Name Student Speakers for FVL Graduation

2 Seniors to Talk On School Days, Christian Education

John Koschmann and Miss Barbara Kuhn will represent the Class of 1963 as student speakers at commencement exercises at Fox Valley Lutheran High School at 8 p.m. Friday.

Miss Kuhn's talk will review the years she has spent at FVL, while Koschmann's speech will look into the future to see how a Christian education will be an asset to FVL graduates.

Miss Kuhn said that she felt that the FVL teacher's club has given her an introduction to her intended vocation of teaching. She will study at Milwaukee Lutheran Teachers College.

She said that her course in English and history were most important in her making her decision to become a teacher. Miss Kuhn's hobbies are reading and participating in sports — as a spectator.

Koschmann's interests are electronics and sports. He will study electrical engineering at Valparaiso University. He played basketball throughout his FVL career, was a member of the science club and was president of the Student Council this term.

John Koschmann

Miss Barbara Kuhn

Paul Lutheran Grade School, Appleton. Koschmann attended St. Matthew Lutheran Grade School, Appleton, and was graduated from Trinity Lutheran School, Neenah.

Barbara Larsen, 1029 N. Owassa St., Barbara Lynch, Apt. 3, Whiting Court; David McIntyre, 803 S. Pierce Ave.; Virginia McKee, 924 E. Alton St.; Lois McNamara, 832 E. South St.; Esther Mealy, 10 Brookway Place; Kenneth Mueller, Whiting Court.

Homerooms Pick Representatives At Fox Valley

Fox Valley Lutheran High School student council representatives have been elected in the various homerooms for the 1963-1964 school year.

Senior representatives for 1963-64 are Lynn Abitz, Sharon Dobberstein, Robert Krueger, Bonnie Krueger, Jane Pankow, Sally Schuelke, Henry Simon, Barry Wierschke and Paul Zittlow.

Marlene Danke, Lynn Freund, William Gresens, James Koschmann, Dale Lueck, Christine Marguardt, Ruth Plantikow, Leslyn Spiegelberg and Karen Volkman were chosen as the junior representatives.

Thomas Bartz, James Boldt, Lannie Krueger, Keith Palmbach, Barbara Reimer and Carol Wierschke were elected as representatives for their sophomore year. Peter Beyer is the new student

President Knight To Deliver Address At 114th Graduation

More than 30 Fox River Valley students are among a class of more than 200 seniors who are candidates for bachelor's degrees at Lawrence College's 114th commencement ceremonies Sunday.

The baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning will be delivered by the Rt. Rev. Charles E. Bennison, Bishop of the Diocese of Western Michigan and a Lawrence alumnus. The commencement address will be given by President Douglas M. Knight, who will be making his final official appearance at Lawrence before moving to Duke University, Durham, N. C., where he is president-elect.

A three-day schedule of cultural, academic, and social events will precede the commencement ceremonies, including Alumni College lectures and symposia, a commencement concert, reunion receptions and dinners, an all-college luncheon and a Lawrence College Theatre production.

Thieves Fail In Attempted Safe-Cracking

FOREST JUNCTION — A safe-cracking attempt at the Keller Implement Co. during the night apparently was unsuccessful, a company official said today.

Thieves knocked the dial and knob off the safe but apparently could not open it. The safe door was jammed this morning.

However, less than $10 was taken from a till and a soda machine was smashed with an undetermined amount of change missing. Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky was unable to determine exactly how the thieves gained entry to the building.

OSC Graduation To End 1963 State College Rites

MADISON (AP) — Graduation exercises at Oshkosh State College Sunday will conclude commencement programs at Wisconsin's state-financed colleges.

The college headquarters announced Wednesday that 2,168 students qualified for degrees, an increase of 151 over last year. Teacher degrees were earned by 717 men and 866 women, with the remaining graduates qualifying for liberal arts degrees.

A breakdown of men and women graduates shows: Platteville—106 men, 91 women. Oshkosh—120 and 170. River Falls—155 and 104. Stout—139 and 114. Eau Claire — 128 and 118. La Crosse — 121 and 108. Stevens Point—141 and 88. Whitewater—114 and 106. Superior—81 and 64.

Thermometers' Ups and Downs

Four Low Temperature Records Set in May

It may be hot in Appleton now, but last month — on May 11, 21, 22 and 23 — records for daily minimum temperatures were established and the monthly mean of 54.6 degrees was 1.9 degrees below normal.

The maximum May temperature was 83 degrees on May 8 and the low of 32 was reached three days later. Frost was reported on May 9 and 10.

Precipitation during May totaled 2.82 inches as compared to a normal of 3 inches. Almost half — 1.81 inches — came during thunderstorms on May 9 and 10.

Five days and caused some crop and garden damage on May 21, 22 and 23.

There were 10 days when the temperature rose above 70 degrees and three when it went above 80.

Coldest Season
Heating degree days below a 65 degree base amounted to 332 during May for an accumulated total since Sept. 1 of 8,807, the greatest total and therefore the coldest fall, winter and spring since 1941-42. The normal heating season total is 7,580 days.

Growing degree days above a 40 degree base, a temperature index used for plant growth, amounted to 451 during May for an accumulated total since April except March, since October thunderstorms were reported on six days and fell on two days. It snowed briefly on May 22.

Wind speeds averaged 10.5 miles an hour for the month with a prevailing direction from the southwest. The maximum gust of 45 m.p.h. occurred during a thunderstorm May 7.

There were four clear, 17 partly cloudy and ten overcast days. Average relative humidity for May was 67.3 per cent.

June normals in Appleton are a mean temperature of 67 degrees and 3.88 inches of rain, according to C. V. Ardis, weather observer for the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., who provided these data.

Madison West Defends Golf Crown Here

State Meet Will Be Played Friday And Saturday

Six of the top seven teams from 1962 will be back to challenge for WIAA State golf meet honors at the Reid Municipal course Friday and Saturday.

Heading the list of entrants is Madison West, which has won the championship the last three years.

The Fox Cities area is represented only sparsely in the tournament. The lone area entrant is Kyle Winters, of Waupaca, who qualified with a 76 in sectional play.

The first round of the tournament is scheduled to get underway at 9:30 a.m. Friday. The final round will start at 7 a.m. Saturday.

It is expected that the trophy presentation ceremonies will take place about Saturday noon.

Teams which finished second through seventh in the 1962 state meet also will be back and these include Whitefish Bay, Shorewood, Milwaukee Pulaski, South Milwaukee and LaCrosse Central.

Top Qualifiers

Janesville, with 294, and Whitefish Bay, with 296, topped the field in qualifying in sectional tournaments. The top individual effort was a 68 by Steve Frieberg of Shorewood while George Gustavson of Monona Grove posted a 70.

A total of 24 schools have qualified full teams for the tourney and 10 other schools qualified one golfer each.

Quad Cities Drops Pair To 'Rapids'

Wisconsin Rapids dealt Quad Cities a double defeat Wednesday night in Midwest League action, 11-1 and 4-0.

Quincy turned back Dubuque, 8-5, and Clinton exploded to down Waterloo, 12-1. Decatur thumped Burlington, 10-5, to round out league action.

MacArthur Reiterates Decision

ECAC Ordered to Rescind Its Ruling

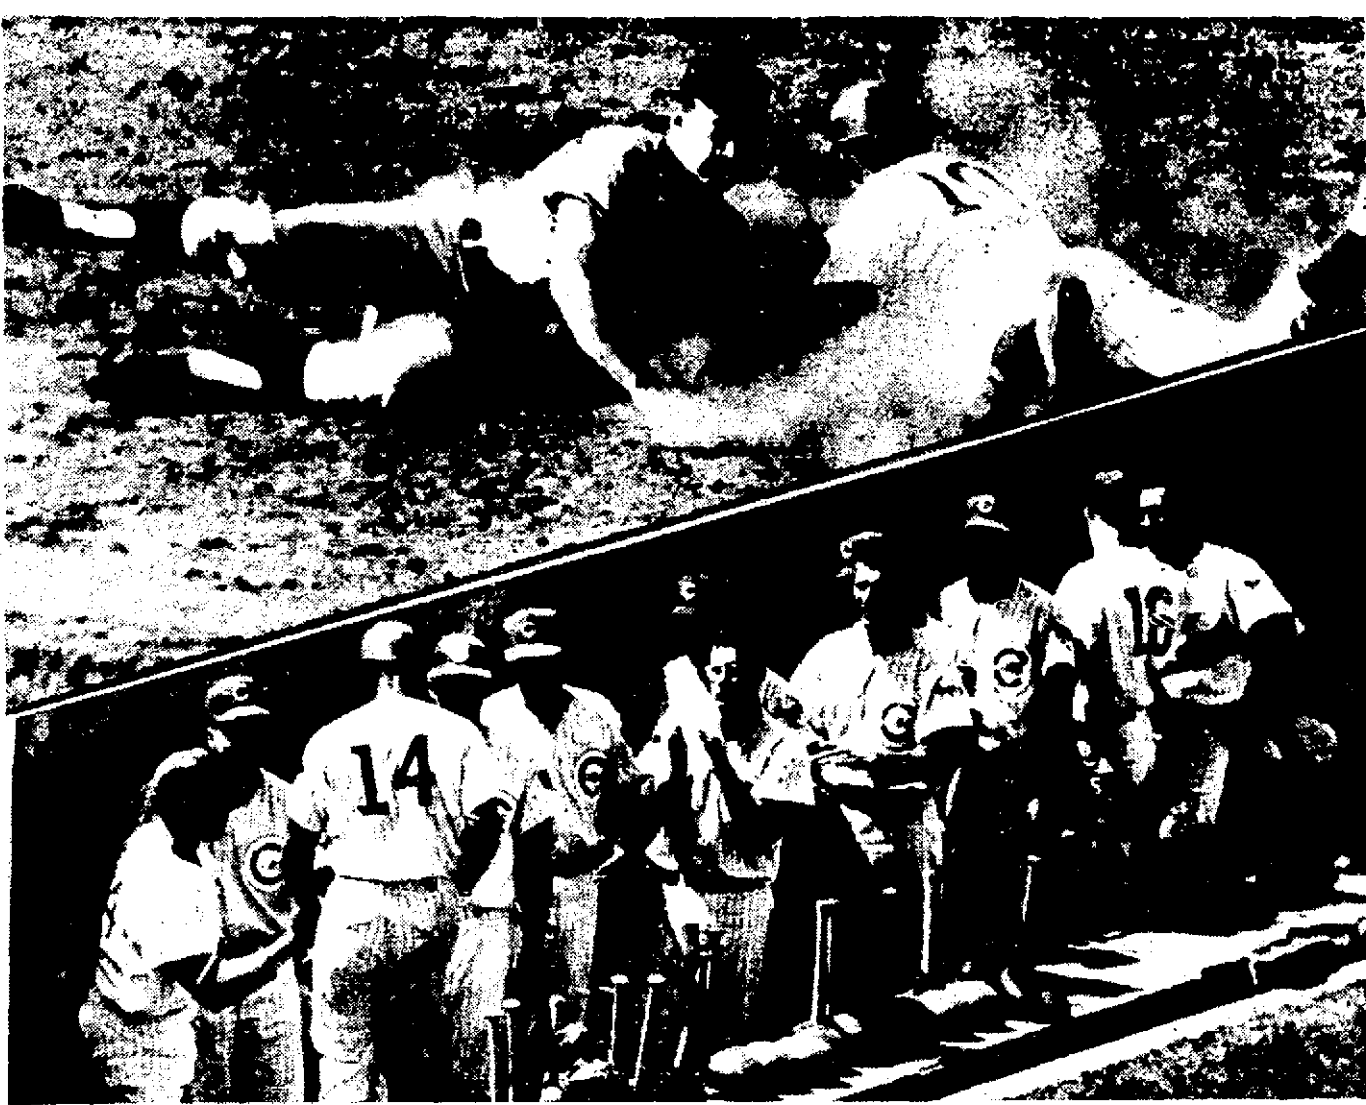

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur ordered the Eastern College Athletic Conference today to rescind immediately its order forbidding college athletes to compete in open track meets.

The general said the ECAC action closing AAU meets to college athletes violates the agreement he hammered out in January between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and Amateur Athletic Union.

He said the issue "of sanctioning authority" apparently is the major point of contention between the two groups and his ruling should permit a resumption of normal activities by both.

Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the ECAC, was not available for comment, aides saying he was not in his office today.

MacArthur's statement follows: "Some of the confusion which seems to exist over the question of sanctions of athletic meets is apparently due to a misinterpretation of the decision rendered by me on March 12 in reference to this matter. In order that there be no further misunderstanding, I reiterate my ruling on that issue to this effect: "Open meets are under the sole sanctioning power of the Amateur Athletic Union."

Surging Cubs Sweep Pair From Giants, Climb to Within 1 Game of First Place

Banks Hits 2 Homers in First Tilt; Phils' Culp Blanks Cards

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Cubs are acting just like they're serious about this game of baseball.

Everyone knows the Cubs are a team you point at and giggle. Imagine, a nine-man coaching staff and, of all things, an athletic director. Sure, a million laughs. Only, who's giggling? Certainly not the San Francisco Giants. Nor the rest of the National League. Nor, come to think about it, anyone but dyed-in-the-wool Cub fans.

The fired-up Cubs swept a doubleheader from the Giants 9-5 and 5-4 Wednesday and vaulted into a tie with St. Louis for second place, just one game back of the leading Giants.

Rookie Ray Culp threw a three-hitter in leading Philadelphia to a 3-0 edge over the Cardinals; Smokey Burgess drove in the winning run in each game as Pittsburgh swept Cincinnati, 5-4 and 4-3; Milwaukee outlasted New York 11-9 in 10 innings and Los Angeles beat Houston 5-1 behind Sandy Koufax.

The Cubs' sweep of San Francisco made it 10 victories in their last 12 games and six of nine with the league leaders.

The Cubs lashed five home runs in the first game, but had to have a little luck to salvage the nightcap. Lou Brock scampered in from third with the tie-breaking run when the Giants' Chuck Hiller dropped a pop fly in short right field in the seventh.

Ernie Banks hit two homers in the first game, and Billy Williams, Ken Hubbs and Brock one each. For the Giants, Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays had first game homers and Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda connected in the nightcap.

Culp, a $100,000 bonus right-hander for the Phils, allowed only 8 2-3 innings against the Cardinals. Boyer then collected his second single and George Altman singled before the 22-year-old rookie struck out Julian Javier to end the game. The loss dropped the Cards to a share of second, one game off the pace.

The Pirates' Burgess broke a 4-4 tie with a pinch hit single in the eighth inning of the first game, and doubled in what proved to be the winner in the nightcap against the Reds.

His first game single drove in pinch runner Willie Stargell with the winning run and he doubled home Bill Mazeroski in the sixth inning of the nightcap to give the Pirates a 4-0 lead. Two homers by aboard, put the Reds back in contention. Mazeroski had a three-run homer in the first game and

Northeastern Best-Ball Tourney Starts Friday On Rhinelander Course

The Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association's 15th annual best-ball tournament will be played, this weekend at the Rhinelander Country Club. It has attracted 52 teams — the largest field in the tourney's history.

Wausau's Leo Kordus and Dave Raab will defend their championship. In last year's finals, they edged Appleton Butte des Morts' John Lindberg and Jim McDonald.

Qualifying play is scheduled for Friday. The "shot gun" start, tried last year for the first time, will be employed again. The low-scoring 16 teams will qualify for the championship bracket. The next 16 low scorers will compete in class A, and eight more will enter the consolation round.

Match play starts Saturday morning. Finals are set for 2 p.m. Sunday.

Among the past champions in the field include Kaukauna's Wayne Hull and Bob Derus (1961 winners). BDM's Don Jabas and Don Strutz (1960); BDM's John Hayes and Al Rudolf; and Sheboygan's Jim Lohr and Al Steffen.

Vince Lombardi, Green Bay Packer general manager and head coach, will play in his first NEWGA tourney. He plays for the Green Bay Oneida Club. Packer Jess Whittenton is also entered. The host pro is Ralph Hutchinson.

Friday's tee-off times for Fox Cities area players:

- 9:00 A.M. — Erv Nicolaisen & John Chaitrom, Waupaca. Gene Garvey and Bill Schelsinger, Buttes des Morts.
- 9:00 A.M. — Jim Gustman & Dick Kewley, Buttes des Morts. Bob Sunstrom & R. Saxsmith, Riverside.
- 9:00 A.M. — Bob Wirth & Bill Maher, Buttes des Morts. Skip Wefel and Jim Metcal, Bull's Eye.
- 9:06 A.M. — Jim Ginter & George Packer, Waupaca. Fred Morris & Pat Collins, Oneida.
- 9:00 A.M. — Ward Fox & Jeff Martin, Waupaca. Dr. G. Meikeljohn & Dr. Metcalf, New London.
- Tea No. 8—Art Drwiler & Harold Sweet, Rhinelander. Gene Placz & L. Mayer, Fox Valley.
- Tea No. 9 — Elmer Dushak & Dale Simpson, Waupaca. Jerry Boyce & Mike Dwy, Bull's Eye.

Yanks Beat Orioles But Lose Mantle

Mickey Has Broken Bone In Left Foot

BY MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle's cast stretches from his toes to his knee. And quite possibly to the heart of the New York Yankees.

The blond better, four-time home run champion in the American League and three-time Most Valuable Player, suffered a broken bone in his left foot Wednesday night as the Yankees whipped Baltimore 4-3 and regained first place by .004 points over the Orioles.

Doctors estimate the injury—a fracture of the third metacarpal bone, a small bone running across the top of the foot—may keep the Yankee slugger out of the world champions' line-up for as long as six weeks.

And while no player on the Yankees is indispensable, there is little doubt that the men in pinstripes are a radically changed club with Mantle on crutches. That's been shown in the past when the $100,000-a-year center fielder has been sidelined.

Last year Mantle missed 30 games during May and June and the Yankees struggled along at a .500 pace. When he returned to the line-up, they spurred ahead and rolled on to their 12th pennant in the last 14 years. The story has been much the same this year.

Misses 9 Games

Bothered by a rib cage injury early in the season, Mantle missed nine games. The Yankees lost five. The Yankees have played .600 ball over-all, 639 with Mantle in the line-up. When he was carried off the field in Baltimore Wednesday, Mantle had a .310 batting average with 11 homers and 26 runs batted in.

The injury came as Mantle ran into the center field wire fence—there is no warning track at Memorial Stadium—trying to catch a homer hit by the Orioles' Brooks Robinson. His spikes became entangled in the wire as he hacked off for the ball and his left foot twisted as he fell.

While the Yankees were losing Mantle and beating Baltimore, the Chicago White Sox lost an opportunity to take over first place. Needing a doubleheader sweep over the Los Angeles Angels, the White Sox won the opener 3-0 but lost the nightcap 8-2.

Elsewhere, Minnesota continued to move up by downing Kansas City 4-0 and Detroit edged Cleveland 5-4. The Boston-Washington game was rained out.

Mantle, plagued by osteomyelitis—an inflammatory bone disease—since his 'teens, is known for his tape-measure homers and taped-up legs. He has been plagued by various ailments throughout his 12-year career.

Speaking of the injury that could be the most serious in his medical history, Mantle said, "I really don't know what happened. I don't even know whether I

Braves Drop Mets in 10th Inning After Wasting 9 to 1 Lead

Bubba Morton Breaks Tie With 2-Run Single

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves are playing lastingly weird baseball and in the process have strung together a pair of victories and hauled themselves up to seventh place where they are only six games off the pace.

An example of their sometimes heroic, sometimes pitiful struggle was Wednesday's 11-0 victory over the New York Mets in 10 innings.

Lee Maye and Denis Menke assumed early hero roles, hitting home runs as the Braves opened a 9-1 lead that appeared to make Warren Spahn a cinch to take his eighth victory.

But the coin turned and the Mets, seizing on Milwaukee errors and misplays, rammed home seven runs after two were out in the sixth. The Mets, fighting their own desperate battle, kept trying and finally pulled into a tie in the eighth.

It remained for right-hander Lew Burdette to come hipply-hopping out of the bullpen to persuade the Mets to behave like the last place team they are while awaiting Milwaukee's decisive play. And that was a two-run single by Bubba Morton, owner of a .192 batting average.

Open Date

Today was an open date for the Braves, possibly included to review Wednesday's business. It went like this:

Spahn got the Braves down to work when he doubled with one out in the third, but the 42-year-old left-hander was out sliding into third on Roy McMillan's grounder. Maye then hit his second homer of the season to score two runs. Hank Aaron kept things moving with a single and stole second. Eddie Mathews' double to left sent Aaron home.

Don Rowe replaced Met starter Jay Hook after Bob Uecker walked to open the fourth. Menke's single sent Uecker to third and he started for home on Spahn's grounder but found himself trapped. In the attempted rundown, Met catcher Norm Sherry was called for obstruction and Uecker was allowed to score. McMillan's hunt went for a hit, and Rowe's bad throw to first allowed Menke to score.

After two were out in the fifth, Tommie Aaron doubled and Uecker walked ahead of Menke's fifth homer, good for three runs, putting the Braves in front 8-0. The Mets scored in the same inning as Maye let Jim Piersall's single get away. Allowing Sammy

'Walker' Trio Wins In British Meet

Davies, Sikes, Updegraff Move Into Fifth Round at St. Andrews

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Three members of the United States Walker Cup team made and banged into a lattice fence their way into the fifth round of the British Amateur Golf championship today but an American grass only three inches from the dark hole was eliminated. Hence, Blocker's cramped but creditable shot left him 13 feet from the hole, and he couldn't make the hole. Sikes, of Pasadena, Calif., two-putted. Lunt won with a par 5. time U.S. Public Links champion and Ed Updegraff, 41-year-old Tucson, Ariz., doctor were successful in the first of today's two rounds which will cut the field to eight players.

The first American loser was with a bogey 5. The champion George (Chus) Blocker of Jalisco, a former college star at 18th, then made one of his best Texas Tech who now is stationed at an American military base in Italy. He was beaten on the last hole by Michael Lunt, British Walker Cup star 1 up Hugh O'Donnell, a Hollywood, Calif., restaurant man, lost as expected to Scotland's Ronnie Shade, 2 and 1.

Shaky Start
Davies, off to a rather shaky start, won out over John Wilson of Scotland with a birdie 3 on the 19th hole after winning the 18th to send the match into overtime. Sikes disposed of Dr. Hugh MacAnespie of Scotland, 4 and 3, and Updegraff turned back Geoffie Dixon of Scotland, 2 and 1.

Davies, Sikes, and Updegraff, last survivors of the U.S. Walker Cup, but Dixon drove out of bounds team that was successful in its and then ran into lots of bunker duel with England's top amateurs trouble, too.

But has fared badly on the 6,336-yard St. Andrews Old Course this week, all are in the upper half of the draw. They play their fifth round matches this afternoon.

Blocker, making his first appearance in international competition, has impressed knowing and Scottish galleries with his long hitting but that was what finally cost him his match with Lunt. After being three down through the first five holes, the 23-year-old American rallied. He squared the match at the 10th and pulled into a 1-up lead at the 14th with a birdie 4 on the notorious 560-yard "bear-dies" hole.

Blocker three-putted to lose the 15th and they came to the home

Mantle's Long History of Infirmitiees Goes Back to '47

BALTIMORE (AP)—Here's the hospital history on the New York Yankees' oft-injured super star, Mickey Mantle, who suffered a broken bone in his left foot Wednesday night:

1947 — As a 16-year-old high school football player in Oklahoma, afflicted with osteomyelitis, a bone disease, in the left ankle and shin. The disease has been arrested, but Mantle still takes periodic injections and plays with the leg heavily taped.

'Babe Ruth' Candy Sale Set Saturday

The Appleton Babe Ruth League will hold a candy sale Saturday.

Proceeds from the city-wide candy sale will help finance the league's operation. Bud Falk is chairman of the fund-raising committee. Other members are Ron Foth, Bill Hetherington and Ed Krueger.

The 30 boys who will play in the Babe Ruth League this summer will meet in full baseball uniform at the South Side Athletic Club at 12:30 p.m. Saturday. They will be assigned to a sales promotion team.

Players who sell 25 boxes of candy or more will receive a free baseball bat.

Kaukauna Organizes 'Legion' Team Through Subscriptions

KAUKAUNA — Although not sponsored by the American Legion Post officially, the city will have an entry in the Fox Valley American Legion Baseball League this year, according to Harry Wilson, coach.

Boys requested the coach to organize a team, and Wilson mailed the entry fee before seeking Legion approval. That organization did not feel conditions warranted expenditure of funds to finance the program, but Wilson decided to attempt to maintain the team through general subscriptions.

Clubs, organizations, industries and individuals will be contacted in an effort to raise the $300 needed to run the squad. Funds are needed to pay umpires, purchase equipment, cover travel expenses, and purchase insurance for the youngsters, noted Wilson.

The decision to attempt to run the team through general subscription has made it necessary to delay a general call for players. Wilson has arranged for the team to use neighboring baseball fields since the Kaukauna diamond is not yet available and is not expected to be ready for use this summer.

Mantle Hurt As Yankees Edge Orioles

I may have stepped into the fence as I backed into it.

Said Manager Ralph Houk:

"We've had to meet such situations before. We're certainly going to miss him but we ain't going to lay down and die."

Disputed Call
Houk made his comment in the clubhouse after the Yankees had scored the tie-breaking run on a disputed call in the eighth inning. The argument arose when Tom Tresh batted into Oriole catcher Dick Brown, jarring the ball loose as he cocked his arm to throw to first base on an attempted home-to-first doubleplay.

The ball rolled loose and Roger Maris, who earlier had hit a two-run homer, came around with the winning run. That gave the victory to White Sox 7-3.

The White Sox won the opener on a bases-empty homer by Dave Nicholson and a two-run shot by Jim Landis. John Buzhardt scattered nine hits for his sixth victory against two losses.

The Angels won the nightcap with a seven-run sixth inning uprising against Ray Herbert, 5-3. Albie Pearson who stroked four hits, broke a 2-2 tie in the rally with a bases-loaded single. Ken McBride, 5-6, was the winner with a five-hitter.

Rich Rollins and Bob Allison homered for the Twins in support of rookie Jim Roland, who shut out the A's on two hits until he was forced out with elbow trouble after seven innings. Bill Dailey preserved Roland's fourth victory against one defeat. Orlando Pena, 5-6, was charged with the defeat. Norm Cash's ninth inning homer provided the margin of victory for

Appleton LL Opens Campaign Saturday

The Appleton Little League will open its season Saturday afternoon at Linwood Park.

The Teamsters (managed by John Graff) will meet Baur Truck (managed by Gus Mullen) in an Appleton State Bank Division game.

Ceremonies will start at 1:30 p.m. E. W. (Duke) Grover, Appleton Recreation Department director, will be guest of honor at the game. Gene Steinhorst, of station WAPL, will be the public address announcer. He will be assisted by Stan Beschta and Mitt Drier, the managers of the Jenkel Oil and VFW teams, respectively.

Saturday's umpires will be Wes Gregorius, at the plate, and Gordon Sommers, on the bases.

Clash Tuesday

Except for the opening game, State Bank Division contests will start at 5:45 p.m. VFW and Jenkel clash Tuesday.

The Appleton Building and Loan Division will play its games at McKinley school. At 5:45 p.m. Optimists, Tuesday, the Police De-Monday, Post-Crescent meets the

Braves Reject Trade for Charley Neal

NEW YORK (AP)—Somebody has finally offered to trade with the Milwaukee Braves—they rejected the offer.

John McHale, the Braves' president and general manager, has been pounding on doors and beating the bushes all spring in hopes of finding someone who could add batting punch to his lineup.

The New York Mets offered a deal Wednesday—ex-Dodger infielder Charley Neal for shortstop Roy McMillan in an even trade.

McHale said, "No trades are in sight," got on an airplane and flew to Milwaukee.

Manager Bobby Bragan said, "We wouldn't give up our regular shortstop. They are too hard to find."

That can also be taken to mean that the young and hopeful Denis Menke, while hitting .240 to McMillan's .217, isn't yet defensively ready.

McHale took time before settling into his airliner seat to deny that Ed Mathews has become trade bait, and he added he wasn't in a mood to dispose of Del Crandall or Bob Shaw either.

Pete Retzlaff Disputes Clause In Pension Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff, president of the National Football League Players Association, denied today he or any other players agreed to a clause in the league pension plan that would deprive a player of his pension if he legally played out his contract and went to another league.

Retzlaff also called upon NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle to appoint a member of the association to serve on the pension committee which now consists of Rozelle and two New York businessmen.

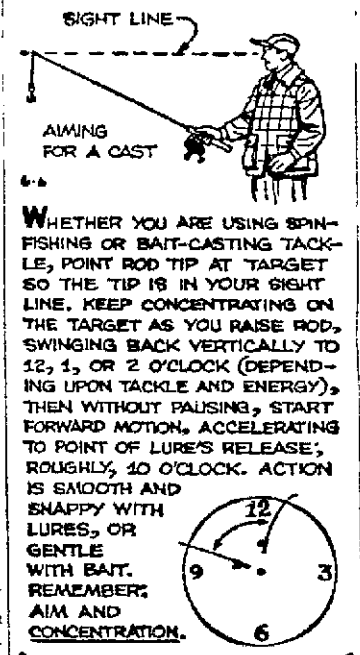

The pension plan dispute broke out when Bruce Bosley, San Francisco 49ers guard claimed Tuesday that the league was using the pension plan as a lever in contract negotiations. Bosley said NFL owners have banded together to prevent players from playing out their options by threatening withdrawal of pension benefits.

Pro football contracts bind a player for one additional year beyond his last contract after which the player becomes a free agent.

Snead Shoots 61 In Practice, Sets Course Record

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—Sam Snead trummed three strokes off the 20-year-old Flint Golf club record, 31-30—61, as he warmed up to the $52,000 Buck Open which starts at Warwick Hills on today.

He counted two eagles and eight birdies in his 11-under-par performance on the 6,633-yard course and bettered the mark set by Doug Bloom, 20-time Flint City champion.

Snead's brilliant golf this week makes him a top contender here along with Dow Finsterwald, winner of the $10,000 first money in the 500 Speedway Festival at Indianapolis Monday, and Tony Lema, second leading money winner of the circuit this year with $47,696.

Report Wisconsin Fishing to Be 'Best' in Next Two Weeks

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin fishing should be at its best in the next two weeks.

The authority for the forecast is the State Conservation Department which said Wednesday its prediction was based on the reports of wardens who said fishing was great in all parts of the state last week.

That also means the best of prospects for the opening of the bass season in the area north of Highway 64 on Saturday.

Samples of last week's catch included a 35-pound muskie taken in Sawyer County and 27-pounder landed in Oneida County. Good muskie action in Ashland, Eau Claire and Iron counties also was reported.

Lake Pepin was called the "best in years" with a number of 5-pound walleyes taken. A 12-pound, 31-inch walleye was hauled out of Lake Shawano. There also were good walleye catches on the Mississippi and Wisconsin rivers and Lake Winnebago.

The reports also told of north-erns ranging up to 17 pounds and stringers of 6-pound bass. Trout were hitting flies.

Oriole Fans Cheer Mantle's Injury — With Apparent Glee

BALTIMORE (AP) — When Mickey Mantle was carried from the Memorial Stadium outfield on a stretcher Wednesday night, Baltimore fans cheered wildly for the injured New York Yankee star.

After the game, when the public address system announced Mantle had suffered a broken bone in his foot and would be out of action for weeks, they cheered again—with apparent glee.

By that time, sportsmanship had disappeared and sorehead losers in the crowd of 24,934 were letting loose their anger.

The hometown Orioles had just lost a tough 4-3 decision in an argumentative, bruising contest that provided thrills from start to finish. It was World Series atmosphere in June.

Next to eating crabcakes, nothing satisfies a Baltimorean as much as a victory over the Yankees. The fans were itching for the Orioles to increase their American League lead by whipping the Yanks for the second straight night.

They waited for one hour, 8 minutes before rain stopped falling and the game could begin. And, by the time the contest ended, they were in a boisterous mood. One fan heaved an empty whisky bottle at plate umpire Joe Paparella.

In between, the spectators were treated to outstanding fielding, three homers, violent body contact on the basepaths, rundown plays, several arguments and a disputed ruling by Paparella which allowed the winning run to score.

New York had the bases loaded with one out in the eighth when pinch hitter Yogi Berra hit a weak dribbler back to the mound.

Oriole pitcher Stu Miller tossed to the plate to force Tom Tresh, but Tresh bumped into catcher Dick Brown as he cocked his arm for a throw to first base. The ball rolled into foul ground along the first base line, allowing Roger Maris to score from second base.

Manager Billy Hitchcock of the Orioles argued furiously, contending Tresh was guilty of interference for deliberately elbowing Brown. Paparella disagreed, and also ejected Hitchcock.

Three more singles resulted in a run for Gertz' in the second, and Powers' came back to score three in the fourth on two errors, two singles and a double by George Brautigan. Gertz' tallied two in the top of the fifth on an error, a single and a double by Don Gerritts.

Powers tied the count with a run in the bottom of the fifth on a single and a double by Jack Liddy. Three singles resulted in three runs for the winners in the seventh.

Gertz '9' Tallies 3 in Final Inning To Top Powers'

KAUKAUNA — Gertz' Bar (3-1) tallied three runs in the top of the final inning to take a 9-6 win over Powers' Pub (0-4) in Tavern League play Monday night.

Three singles accounted for two runs for the winners in the top of the first inning, but Powers' came back with four singles in the bottom of the frame to tie the count.

Berlin and Vienna Ruled Out As 1968 Olympic Games Site

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — The executive board of the International Olympic Committee and the top officials of the inter-national sports federations held a joint meeting today to discuss possible sites for the 1968 Olympic Games.

The meeting, held behind closed doors in a Lausanne hotel, also discussed recent efforts to mediate between the IOC and India, which has been barred from the 1964 Tokyo Games for violating Olympic rules.

Four cities—Buenos Aires, Mexico City, Detroit and Lyons—were still in the race for the 1968 summer games. The IOC ruled out Vienna and Berlin Wednesday.

IOC sources said Lyons, France's third largest city, and Detroit seemed to have the best chance of obtaining the games. Political instability in Argentina and the altitude of Mexico City were likely to weigh heavily against the two Latin American candidates when the final decision is taken.

An IOC plenary meeting will make the final choice at Nairobi, Kenya, next October. The Lausanne meeting was expected to make recommendations, but these were not likely to be published prior to the Nairobi session.

Today's joint meeting will also make recommendations on the site of the 1968 winter games, to be chosen at an IOC meeting in Innsbruck, Austria, next February. The seven candidates are Calgary, Alberta; Grenoble, France; Lahti, Finland; Lake Placid, N.Y.; Oslo, Norway; Sapporo, Japan; and Sion, Switzerland.

The meeting was also scheduled to consider the sports federations' claim for a higher share of proceeds from Olympic television royalties.

State Tennis Tourney Set For Nicolet

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While the State High School Baseball Tournament was set to open today at Oshkosh, final plans were being made for two more Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association meets that will begin Friday.

The two-day tennis tournament will be held at Nicolet High School in the Milwaukee suburb of Fox Point and the golf meet, also a two-day affair, will be held on Reid Municipal course in Appleton.

The first, second and third place teams in the 1962 tennis tournament are back for another crack at the title. Manitowoc is the defending champion. Whitefish Bay was second and Menasha tied for third a year ago. Each of the schools is rated a contender on the basis of a top singles performer and strong doubles units.

Seventeen schools have entered full teams and seven others qualified either a singles entrant or a doubles team for the finals.

Educational Experiment

One of the major trends in elementary education has been the grouping of three grades into departments rather than separating each grade along rigid lines as previously. Green Bay public schools include a primary department which youngsters usually complete in three years and there often are divisions within the department so that more children may study at their own particular levels of ability. Appleton schools have incorporated an additional three grades into an intermediate level with much the same type of program.

Now there is a pilot program in the Huntley school in Appleton which specifies that children from three grades be in one room under one teacher. In reality this is an attempt to salvage from the outdated one-room schools some of the advantages that may be lost in the large, multi-class modern schools of our integrated districts today.

The children in the Appleton experiments were chosen at random as to ability and deportment. So far, tests indicate that academically the youngsters had somewhat an edge on their traditional companions who are in rooms according to the level of ability of the student. But more than that, teachers report that the youngsters have assumed some of the characteristics of those who went to the little red schoolhouses.

Conflict in Australia

Australia has become the latest nation to get into a lather about a proposed nuclear base.

The United States wants to establish a naval communications center at Exmouth Gulf in Western Australia and apparently the agreement will be successfully made. The function of the base would be to control nuclear powered submarines armed with Polaris missiles. The subs would operate in the Indian Ocean and the Southwest Pacific. The Exmouth Gulf facilities would be used especially to transfer command decisions from Washington to individual submarine commanders.

The opposition in Australia has centered around what is supposed to be the resultant danger to Australia. The fear is that the establishment of the base would bring down the wrath of the Soviet Union upon Australia and increase the danger of attack.

The charges have been well answered by reporter Michael Leifer in The Bulletin, an Australian magazine of opinion. "What seems to be important is not whether such a centre upgrades the status of Australia as a target in war, but whether it is likely to increase the possibility of war. In the event of a global nuclear war, Exmouth Gulf would not make any real difference to an Australia which would still feel the

The Mystery of Czechoslovakia

When Czechoslovakia slipped behind the Iron Curtain without a murmur in 1948, a lot of Americans were shocked. This was the nation supposed to be a showcase for democracy following its establishment after World War I. It was the gallant little land that resisted the Nazis so desperately. What happened? And what has happened since?

Of all the satellite nations, Czechoslovakia has seemed the most subdued under the Soviet yoke. Between 1948 and 1960 it changed almost completely to a socialistic way of life and without a hitch, or at least without notable opposition. Its industrial production climbed at an average rate of about 11 per cent a year with the greater part of it in heavy industry. But last year the rate fell off and it appears it will go no higher this year. Poor agricultural production has meant a continually rising increase in food exports.

Looking Backward

Seward Quoted on Free Speech

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 6, 1863.

In the United States Senate on the 7th day of August, 1836, Mr. William H. Seward, the present Secretary of State, delivered a speech in which he asked the following questions:

"Where on earth is there a free government where the press is shackled and speech is strangled?"

"When the Republic of France was subverted by the First Consul, what else did he do but shackle the press and stifle speech?"

"When the second Napoleon restored the Empire on the ruins of the Republic of France, what else did he do then but shackle the press and stifle political debate?"

"When Santa Anna seized the Government of Mexico, and converted it into a dictatorship, what more had he to do than shackle the press and stifle political debate?"

The questions Mr. Seward asked then we ask of Republicans now. They are especially pertinent to the present time.

Will the Administration and its friends answer?

Thursday, June 2, 1938.

Appleton High School commencements were to reach a milestone in history that night as the last and largest senior class to use the downtown high school received diplomas in Lawrence Memorial Chapel because the school auditorium was too small to hold the 367 seniors, their parents and friends.

School Board member Homer H. Benton was to present the diplomas to the seniors and Principal H. H. Helbe was to present the class and Supt. B. J. Rohan accept it. Municipal Judge Thomas H. Ryan was to give the commencement address and the Rev. Robert K. Bell was to give the invocation and benediction.

An informal discussion of high school life and its meaning to students was to be presented by outstanding seniors Lois Boon, Anne Holtz, Kay Rogers and Dexter Wolfe.

Student musicians taking part in 1938 program were soloist Jeanne Nuoffer; Ivis Boyer, Constance Clark, Erna Falk, Ruth Mewaldt, Edward Murnum, and Kenneth Schmidt in a string ensemble, and Harold Acker, John Huebner, John Kohl, Myrtle Lecker, Ellen Marty and Douglas White in a brass sextette.

The Symbol of Tyranny

30 Years Ago Hitler Burned Books In Germany; It Can Happen Here

BY LYNN POOLE
The John Hopkins University

Thirty years ago, on Jan. 30, 1933, Adolph Hitler was appointed Chancellor of Germany and began his bloody purge and putsch which led to World War II.

Following the line of dictators since ancient times, Hitler ordered the famous and infamous "Burning of the Books" 30 years ago, on May 10, 1933. Verboten books were piled one on the other into a massive pyramid; soaked with oil a torch lighted the mammoth pile, turned into a monstrous pyre.

Flames licked hundreds of feet into the air. Thousands of jeering students and middle-aged Brown Shirts danced around the flaming mass with maniacal glee. Others stood mute, not understanding the symbolic significance of the act — the prelude to a drama of controlling men's minds by decreeing what they could and could not read.

Forget the Symbolism

Today, the burning of the books in Berlin is history; something one reads about with cold, callous retrospect as a fact of the past. Unfortunately, too often, we forget the symbolism and view it as something which happened "way back there, three decades ago."

Castro in Cuba ordered textbooks rewritten to impregnate the minds of the young with Communist ideology. Russia has already spawned several generations of students whose minds are completely controlled by doctrines of Communist thought. The truth of the outside world never reaches them, never allows them free thought. They never have the opportunity to think for themselves.

Delving back into our own history we dredge up the burning of books and witches in early New England. But, we think of it as history. History — it is not. We say, "It cannot happen again in our democracy." We delude ourselves. Happening again — it is. Dictatorship takes many forms, many guises, comes in devious ways. All around us today, in the United States, we find would-be dictators attempting to control teaching, cementing it into a rigid pattern which denies American youth the chance to consider two sides of each question. In certain parts of the country no textbook, no teacher can mention the United Nations. We ourselves, lecturing in one city were asked not to mention the U. N. because "several powerful members of our public school board will attend the luncheon."

Plato's Warning

In the Fifth century B. C. Plato said, "Nothing spoken or written is of any great value if the object is merely to be believed, it it cannot be criticized and thus learn more." His words are true today. Enlightenment and progress comes through knowing all facts, applying a trained mind to their consideration and then making a decision. Dictators of 1963 would deny our children this privilege.

Our own experience with these dictators of the mind has often been stormy. But, no better summation of the dangers we face today can be found than in the reading of "The Censors and the Schools", a new book by Jack Nelson and Gene Roberts, Jr. (Little, Brown). Their book is the first documented, comprehensive description of the activities of pressure groups to censor school books. The facts are incredible in this decade, when the United States is trying to shine before the world as an enlightened democracy.

Too Much Tolerance!

One such group of dictators claimed that 170 of the 220 books, used in the schools of one town, were subversive. Some of the complaints against these books were that they placed too much emphasis on tolerance and mental health, opposed bigotry and prejudice! This — in our country? An examination of documentation in the book, facts about self-appointed guardians of thought-control, is at once frightening, shocking and diabolical; is the death knell for democracy if allowed to flourish.

The knowledge of ages, the sagest thoughts of the greatest minds is contained in books uncontaminated by influence of the "thought dictators." Daily, we in America are in danger of the dictatorship of ideas — through a process of denying young minds a full exploration of ideas, while helping these young minds to think and consider and choose.

The contrast between Plato's statement and the dictums of today's dictators should be taken seriously and acted upon vigorously. The burning of the books in Berlin was only 30 years ago. Thucydides, the ancient historian said, "The kind of events that once took place, will by reason of human nature take place again." Who among us is doing what to prevent this axiom from coming true?

Modern Man Confounded By Serenity

From Los Angeles Times

Those who alertly sniff trends a-borning might consider two major items in the news:

The Miami-Nassau power boat race was postponed because of calm seas.

Cereal companies are aiming their advertising pitch at adults, not kids.

Insignificances? Nay, portents. The Nassau race cancellation is obviously the first symptom of what psychiatrists will soon call the Calm Seas Syndrome. Modern man nurtured on crises and conditioned to insecurity, is confounded by fair weather and blue skies. We are neurotically undone by lazy white clouds under a benign sun, and flee the fortuitous.

And the motivation analysts have obviously determined that children are smarter than parents entranced nightly by TV hillbillies and adult westerns, and hence have targeted the older group as more malleable to the subliminal sell.

Adolescents Are 'Tender As a Crab?'

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — An adolescent is very delicate.

So speaks Prof. M. Dale Baughman of the University of Illinois College of Education who made the observation during a meeting of junior high and upper elementary school teachers and administrators.

He advised them to be on youth's side.

"Contrary to what many adults believe, the growth of a child is unlike that of the sturdy oak tree which grows simply by getting bigger and bigger," he said.

"Compared with the tough guy of preadolescence," Prof. Baughman said, "the junior high school pupil is not unlike the crab which has just cast aside its protective shell while the new one is yet soft and touchy."

How to Get Governor, Legislature Together State's Big Problem

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — The seighing and the hand-wringing and the frantic press agency of state government officialdom in its anxiety about the legislative-gubernatorial state financial dead-lock are almost totally ineffectual.

School Wyngaard boards, state and local, the state department of public instruction, boards and commissions of the state government and many other special interest groups are sending letters and wires and resolutions to Madison demanding that the governor and the legislature compromise their differences.

Yet it must be perfectly evident that this is not going to be an easy thing to do. The differences between the parties are deep and real. What is wanted is a constructive suggestion for achieving the compromise, not mere pious platitudes about how desirable and necessary a solution would be.

Wyngaard

MR. ROTHWELL
The other day the publicity supervisor of Mr. Angus Rothwell, the state superintendent of public instruction, summoned a "press conference."

Mr. Rothwell's mimeographed statement related what anybody with a grasp of elementary arithmetic could have deduced—that if there is a reduction in appropriations for school aids next year, the amount of such aids disbursed will be cut from last year's level.

When he was asked what should be done about it, he allowed that the governor and his legislative foes should sit down at a table and talk themselves into a settlement. Did he have any notions about what a compromise might be? No, he did not. But he was sure that one could be found.

The university and state college statements were even more useless, since those men flatly refused to entertain the possibility that their spending powers could be cut. But they shared with Mr. Rothwell and virtually the whole administrative establishment the insistence that a solution must be found, can be found and will be found, while showing an extreme reluctance to communicate their own ideas of the terms of a settlement.

THE ISSUE

These men, for all of their considerable rank and supposed experience and understanding, give the impression that they have not paid much attention to what has gone before.

They seem to have the idea that this is a fresh quarrel, that it is not a very serious one, and that the politicians will sooner or later come to their senses and patch up a peace.

They fail to see the depth of the dispute, the seriousness of the division, the fact that Gov. Reynolds on the one hand interprets his obduracy on the sales tax as a point of personal honor, and that the Republican legislators are confident that they have more security in the last election returns for their position.

Somebody must make concessions, it is plain. Preferably both parties must make concessions. The key issue is who will make the first move.

What does Wisconsin public opinion favor? Both of the parties appear confident that they have public opinion backing them. The schoolmen and the many other officers blandly calling for compromise are opinion leaders. Their lead would be useful, at the least, and probably decisive, at best. Could Gov. Reynolds stand up against the university board of regents if it made its own choice as a matter of saving its budget? Could the legislature fail to respond if the local school boards spoke out with a tax preference to maintain the solvency of the local schools?

Strictly Personal

There Are No Neutrals In Sinking Rowboat

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
Purely personal Prejudices: If three men are sitting in a rowboat in the middle of the sea, and one of them drills a hole under the seat of the second, the boat will sink with all three of them; and only if we understand this can we understand (if not accept) the "neutralism" of so many nations sealed between us and the Russians in the global rowboat.

Harris

The most awful and lacerating relationships are not between men and women who do not love each other, but between those who, in some desperately perverted way, love each other but do not like each other.

Speaking of love, it customarily takes the better part of a lifetime to come to terms with the truth of Mignon McLaughlin's flat assertion that "No one has ever loved anyone the way everyone wants to be loved."

When a man writes a book to demonstrate that life has no essential meaning, one wonders what meaning he can attach to such a book that he gave so many months of hard work to its composition.

Arguments turn truths into dogmas; as soon as something we believe to be true is disputed, our attitude hardens and we claim much more for it than we otherwise would.

Following this line of thought, it is depressingly evident that truths never alter the convictions of fanatics, but rather increase their resistance; as Oliver Wendell Holmes once put it, in a beautiful figure of speech: "The mind of a bigot is like the pupil of the eye: the more light you pour upon it, the more it will contract."

No new-born baby is dull, but many adults are; what happens to depress and discourage these personalities in the early years, so that most merriment is drained out of them? This is the great question for child psychology; for how can we build an imaginative and responsive social order with so many stilted and pedestrian personalities?

Every great monarch used to keep a Fool at court, not so much to make him laugh as to remind him of the wry paradoxes and inconsistencies of life that no one else would dare to utter; and it is a severe loss in our time that those invested with high power do not have a privileged Fool to mock their pretensions and ridicule their decisions.

A woman who cannot forget that she is wearing a beautiful dress simply calls attention to the fact that she does not feel up to it.

If a man said about himself what he says about his country, he would be considered the most arrogant boaster and megalomaniac; yet is not a country the multiplied version of one man, pounding his chest and bragging to all about his demonstrable superiority over other men?

WHERE TO START LOOKING FOR INSURANCE SALES JOBS

DEAR CY:
Having had a coronary attack a few months ago I am now back at my old job as factory machine operator. In seeking lighter work I have decided I would like to sell fire and casualty insurance and would like to know how to go about this. I will be 60 this summer. What insurance company would you suggest I write? Or would you recommend a correspondence course first? Do I need a license to sell casualty insurance? What's a broker? What's an agent?

DEAR BACK-ON-JOB:
You would have to be highly versatile to move from a machine to an insurance salesman's brief case at 60. Like most everything it's been done but whether it's easier on the heart is debatable. This is not the place for a correspondence course and insurance companies do not train salesmen. Your first stop is the local office of either an insurance broker or an agent. Both have their fine points. An agent purveying casualty and property insurance through agreement as the authorized sales representative for one or several companies. Protection sold by the agent is in accordance with specifications of the company or companies he represents. A broker in this field does not operate on a contract with a company but orders insurance from companies to tailor the protection to the customer he is selling. Most brokers and all agents must obtain licenses in the state where they sell insurance. Training programs are offered by agencies and brokers, and by the

Okay Reynolds' Appointments

Outagamie County Sheriff Spice on State Crime Board

MADISON (AP)—In a surprise move late Wednesday the Senate Judiciary Committee reported its recommendation that three of Gov. John W. Reynolds' appointments be confirmed.

The appointments are to the state crime laboratory board and include Chippewa County Sheriff Lee Aintz of Chippewa Falls, Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice of Appleton and Manitowish County Dist. Atty. Robert Koutnik of Two Rivers.

Early in the session the Senate Republican majority decided not to act on the Democratic governor's appointments. So far he has made 20 and they languish in committee.

Sen. Allen Busby, R-Milwaukee, chairman of the judiciary group, said its action does not mean a shift in GOP policy.

These were the only three appointments in our committee.

Busby said "and I wanted to clean things up."

The favorable recommendations were made on 4-10 votes.

A late Assembly session killed three bills relating to the beer buying age and two others were tabled.

The bills killed would have set the minimum statewide age for buying beer at 21, raised the age one year annually until it reached 21 in 1966 and permitted those over 19 years of age to enter any tavern and drink beer.

Tabled were bills to prohibit beer sales to persons under 21 for off-premises consumption and a measure that would permit drinking only by teenagers who had obtained identification cards by parental consent.

Bread and Water?

WINSLOW ARIZ. (AP)—Budget conscious housewives might want to consult the Winslow Police Department. The department reported that the 2,234 meals it served in one month cost an average of 17 cents each.

Tree Stump Planter for Yard, Patio Adds Beauty

BY CAPPY DICK

A handy boy or girl can turn an old tree stump into a planter for real and artificial flowers. Figure 3 shows what it will look like. It may be placed in the yard or on a patio.

A suitable stump might be found along a beach or perhaps one can be obtained from a friend who lives on a farm.

The stump should be sawed so the bottom will be flat and even during the summer to give the planter a new appearance.

When the flowers have stopped blooming in the Fall, artificial flowers may be placed in the pot so the colorful display can be enjoyed until the snow flies.

A flower display on an old stump

Green Sprigs

Artificial green sprigs can be inserted into the sides of the stump (Figure 3) by boring small slanted holes deep enough to hold the stems.

The potted plant in the top may be changed from time to time.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Blue-collar workers, according to their world

Blue-collar workers, according to their world But discontent to a number of studies As parents they tend to be more direct in their approach to problems. They usually have less facility in the use of words, and are therefore less able to reason along with either themselves or others. Or, they feel that the world is so hopeless that the only thing to do is to wipe out the children and start over again. This is the essence of the re-fidence in themselves and there-fore more likely to demand for destructive radicalism "strict obedience"

1. How many kinds of insects are there in the world?
2. What is an anthology?
3. In what Book of the Bible does the story of Jonah and the great fish occur?

Answers

1. Scientists have found and classified more than 800,000 kinds, but there are so many unknown ones that some authorities believe the list may total two to three million species.
2. A collection of poems or epigrams.
3. In the Book of Jonah.

Jingo's Not Only One Perplexed About TV

Many Fine Shows Leaving Air as Victims of Present Rating System

BY JINGO

The rigors of the rating system is being felt as one by one the victims make their bow into the oblivion to which the exposed ogre of jiggled figures and fictitious findings has condemned them.

Such powerhouse veterans as the Steel Hour, the Voice of Firestone and Circle Theater are preparing their last performances along with such receptacles of integrity as the Naked City while such rating winners as The Beverly Hillbillies prepare for much more of the same in a climate that has bred imitators.

TV critics, commentators and local station managers get such pleading letters as this one from a group of retired viewers in Florida. "I and thousands of other fans want you to see that the Voice of Firestone — the very best program on the air and the best and most tasteful entertainment one can wish for — remains on television. It makes old folks like us enjoy the remainder of our short lives. It makes us happy."

The critics, writers and managers are complimented by such pleas, but all they can do is say "Amen" and join in the head wagging. Only Don Quixote would figure on any chances of victory in a joust with the rating monster — even as wounded as he might be.

Two forces are working to do something about the ogre. One is the Minow — inspired FCC and the other is the organization of broadcasters.

Since the FCC's interest in the affair of the ratings must be activated by the people, its success of action is problematic. Although the recently resigned FCC chairman was able to open effective channels into the commission, the people's voice often is so contradictory that the commission may very well be at a loss to decide on the direction it is called upon to turn.

Jingo Skeptical

Jingo is a bit skeptical of the success of the other force also. The broadcasters banded together as the National Association of Broadcasters indeed have been sensitive to the voice of the people; but, too often, the sensitive reaction has been one of defense couched in self-congratulation based on prospects which usually dim on close scrutiny.

Nevertheless, the NAB has set up a three-step program to provide it with a rating service some one can believe in. The steps are:

1. "Appointment of a Rating Council to establish minimum criteria and standards for valid and reliable audience measurements and to accredit those rating services which meet the established standards.

2. "The Council will undertake to establish a Rating Audit Service under professional management which would be charged with making periodic audits of rating services to determine their performance.

Should be First

3. "NAB's Research Committee will initiate immediately a comprehensive and continuing program of research into measurement methodologies, their adequacy and improvement."

Jingo sees a touch of sardonic humor in the order of the three steps. It seems strange that the third activity will be to find out how a collect the ratings. First things first!

The expose of the numbers game by the Harris Congressional Committee has stirred up a hornet's nest, but the broadcasters can see only one solution: another numbers game. Write your letters anyway, but send them to the NAB at 1771 N. St., NW, Washington 6, D.C. Your chances for action will be better — not good, but better.

Office Building Boom Now on In America

Investment in New Structures Now Totals $156,208,000

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — The glass sheath and curtain wall, the movable partition and year-around air conditioning no longer are the daytime home only of office workers in the nation's largest cities.

The modern office environment is beginning to mushroom in medium-sized cities that haven't seen a major new office building since the 1920s. And the changing face of these business centers may be the mark of the next construction boom, it the biggest cities should take a breather.

While many medium-sized cities have been making do with office accommodations 30 or more years old, their local industries have grown and so have the ranks of professional people all looking for more space.

Big corporations, are locating plants in all regions of the United States, and many now are sectionalizing command and so are in need of regional headquarters.

Drives to save downtown areas from blight also have started office building boomlets in many cities, large and small. Often this is helped along by federal funds. Buildings in smaller cities are expected to bring the total value of office construction this year to 8 per cent more than 1962, even if New York construction should slow down.

April Spurt
F W Dodge Corporation, construction news specialist, reports contracts let for new offices spurted in April. The total, involving all sizes of cities, came to $156,208,000. The largest contracts, those over $1 million, are:

One in Chicago for $5 million; one in Boston, $5 million; two in Washington, D.C., $2.5 million and $2 million, one in Spokane, $2.5 million. One leader in the office construction and remodeling business — Philip Heller, administrative vice president of Fischbach and Moore, electrical wiring contractors — says that in many medium-sized cities outside capital has to break the ice.

"Once an outside investor puts up a modern office building in a city that has put off constructing new ones for 30 years," Heller said in an interview, "others follow with local capital. And older buildings suddenly seem in need of modernization."

Fischbach and Moore now is working on, or has completed, wiring for office buildings in Lake Charles, La.; Kalamazoo, Mich.; Topeka, Kan.; Kansas City, Mo.; Seattle, Wash.; Bartlesville, Okla.; Torrance, Calif.; Bloomfield, Conn.; and Hobart, Ind.

Seek Investment
Feeding the fire under the construction boom has been the build-up in funds looking for investment. Richard W. Baker Jr., vice president of the New York Life Insurance Company, told the annual Eastern mortgage conference of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America "There was a grand total of almost $62 billion of new investment funds available from all sources in 1962 as against about $49 billion the year before."

Is there danger of overbuilding the office building spurt?
Elmer C. Bratt, head of the department of economics, Lehigh University, replies that by its very nature construction relates to local geographic situations and talk of excess office building in New York and Los Angeles needn't apply to other places.

He sees a large and increasing need for office buildings. He notes that now there are two-and-a-half times as many office workers as during the last big building boom

Two Kaukauna Boys Die of Injuries in Crash

Paul Esler, Robert Robach Dead After Four Boys in Car Try to Evade Police

Two Kaukauna youths were injured fatally and two others hospitalized when their convertible automobile went out of control while being chased by county police on Hillcrest Drive (County Trunk Q) near Peters Road in the city of Kaukauna about 9:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Paul Esler, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Esler, 302 Catherine St., and Robert Robach, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robach, 826 Desnoyer St. died of injuries received in the accident.

The Esler youth died about 11:30 p. m. and the Robach youth died about 2:30 a. m. today with no regaining consciousness. Esler died of brain injuries and a skull fracture. Robach died of a basal skull fracture and cerebral hemorrhage.

Kaukauna and Outagamie County police said the car went out of control on a curve at the Peters Road, sheared off a mailbox, hit a power pole knocking out a 12-foot section of the pole, hit a tree

Second Negro Enrolled at Mississippi U.

Spends First Day At Campus Without Open Opposition

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—The first known Negro to attend the University of Mississippi, James H. Meredith, was today a day after the quiet enrollment of a second Negro.

Meredith, 29, said Wednesday in Jackson he would arrive in time for classes this morning. He delayed his arrival 24 hours after summer classes opened for what he termed "urgent personal business."

Meanwhile, Cleve McDowell, 21-year-old Drew, Miss., Negro, entered the Ole Miss law school Wednesday and spent his first day on campus without incident.

Police and soldiers were at alert as the smiling McDowell went through routine registration and entrance requirements.

All went smoothly after Gov. Ross R. Barnett told a television audience that McDowell was to be

Kennedy Puts U. S. Into International Air Transport Race

Goal Is to Cross Atlantic In Flights of 2 or 3 Hours

BY ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP)—The finish line is a long way ahead in the international race for a commercial air transport that will whiz across the Atlantic Ocean in two or three hours.

The United States or the Soviet Union may put a man on the moon before it is reached.

But at least the United States officially is in the running, put there—somewhat belatedly—by President Kennedy's declaration of American will to go ahead with sonic planes that France and Great Britain are preparing to produce jointly.

Pan Am. Orders Planes

The presidential announcement in Colorado came, less than 24 hours after Pan American World Airways ordered six of the super-sonic planes that France and Great Britain are preparing to produce jointly.

The order caused jubilation in Paris and London where officials viewed it as a strategic boost to their drive to challenge U.S. superiority in the commercial aircraft field.

In turn, word of the Kennedy decision was cheered by plane builders here, and by Trans World Airlines, Pan Am's chief U.S. competitor on overseas routes.

Prestige Factor

The thing most at stake in the supersonic race is prestige, particularly for the United States, which long has built the bulk of the world's passenger planes.

Also involved is the ticklish balance of international payments problem that vitally affects the entire national economy. Sales of U.S. planes and supporting equipment abroad has contributed materially to this country's favorable balance in international trade.

Although the President didn't say so specifically, the U.S. is expected to shoot for a plane that will fly 2,000 miles an hour or faster—Mach 3, or more than three times the speed of sound.

Subsidy Required

Costs have been estimated at upwards of $1 billion and, Kennedy said, the U.S. will have to subsidize the project.

About 2 Million File Past Body Of Pope John

Cardinals Arriving For Services and Start of Conclave

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A tide of humanity, perhaps two million strong today paid homage to Pope John XXIII, who dedicated his life to a fight for peace and died leaving war.

The Vatican press office said there had been a million mourners by dawn today, and that a million more were expected by sunset. Vatican police agreed but said the crowd was too tremendous to count.

As the mourners moved through the great Basilica, prelates said masses at altars around the body.

Msgr. Loris Capovilla, the Pope's personal secretary, said one of the masses and then told the mourners that Pope John had said on his deathbed.

Feared New War

"I am afraid, I am afraid. I fear that my children might become involved in a new war."

Meanwhile the Vatican said the Pope's body will be carried into St. Peter's Square tonight for one last time so that he can be seen by mourners who could not get into the Basilica.

Meanwhile, the church's cardinals were arriving for the final rites and the June 19 conclave that will elect a successor.

The College of Cardinals decreed Wednesday that a nine-day formal mourning period for Pope John will start Friday and end June 17. It will be broken for Sunday June 9 and for the Corpus Christi feast day June 13.

Voting Starts June 20

Funeral Masses on the first six days will be said in St. Peter's Basilica by canons of the church. On the last three days the Masses will be celebrated by cardinals.

The cardinals will attend a Mass of the Holy Ghost June 19, then go into conclave at sunset in the Sistine Chapel. Voting will begin June 20. The cardinals will cast four ballots daily in the locked chapel until two-thirds agree on a new Pope.

About 80 of the 82 cardinals are expected to be on hand for the

Terrorists Overpower Guards

Pro-Red Venezuelans Destroy U. S. Military Headquarters in Caracas

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Pro-Communist terrorists made good Wednesday night on their threat to destroy the headquarters of the U.S. Military Mission in Caracas.

Eight gunmen overpowered a Venezuelan guard at the building entrance, forced 12 mission employees to take off their clothes, splashed gasoline on the building and set it afire.

Records Destroyed

The headquarters, an old Spanish colonial building in the fashionable country club section, was ruined. The mission's records were destroyed. None of the mission personnel was harmed.

Gunmen screamed "Yankee Imperialists" at the Americans and smeared walls with their identifying letters, FALN, the Armed Forces for National Liberation.

The FALN, trying to topple the government by force, is made up mostly of Communists but is led by former conservative army officers opposed to President Romulo Betancourt, the government says.

The FALN engaged in attacks and sabotage against government and business installations with daily regularity until they offered a truce last month in an attempt to win reinstatement of the Venezuelan Communist party. Betancourt was adamant against letting Communists participate in presidential elections in November.

The attack Wednesday night was the first since the FALN's peace offer.

A U.S. spokesman said the mission had received numerous anonymous telephone threats that it was marked for destruction because it helps train the Venezuelan armed forces.

A telephone call Wednesday night to the newspaper El Universal said the U.S. installation would be burned immediately after a period of mourning for Pope John XXIII ended at 6 p. m. The terrorists struck at 7 p. m. One was dressed in the uniform of a Venezuelan army officer, six wore uniforms of Venezuelan soldiers and one was in civilian clothes.

They surprised four Venezuelan national guardsmen and lined them up inside with three U.S. Army officers, four U.S. Army sergeants, two Venezuelan civilian employees and the son of an Army officer.

They forced all to strip except Col. J. K. Chenault, 46, deputy chief of the mission, and his 15-year-old son.

Chenault and the other officers, identified as Maj. T. C. Blevins and Maj. B. Gardner, were not armed.

The terrorists, armed with pistols, fled with the U.S. uniforms, the Venezuelan guards' four sub-machine guns, an army pistol, and the men's rings and watches.

No Limited Merit State Pay Boosts

Assembly Groups Don't Want Stalemate to Show Favoritism

MADISON (AP)—Two Assembly committees moved Wednesday to make sure that if any of the state's 20,000 civil service employees are denied merit increases next year because of the threatened fiscal stalemate, none will get increases.

About 17,500 of the state's 20,000 employees are paid from the general fund. If no executive budget is adopted by July 1 they will be denied their annual merit increases.

Another 2,500 employees are in the Conservation, Highway and Motor Vehicle departments, each with its separate budget supported by revenue other than that in the general fund. Since they are not affected by the executive budget or status of the general fund, their merit increases could take effect after July 1.

But Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, All or None

R-Minocqua, following a hearing on the Conservation budget before his Assembly Conservation Committee, announced that the department's budget will go to the Joint Finance Committee and provision for merit increases deleted if the governor and legislature cannot agree on a solution to the overall state fiscal problems.

War Minister In Britain Quits Due to Scandal

LONDON (AP)—The British Conservative party's chances for re-election reached a new low today as a result of a personal scandal involving a Cabinet minister.

John Profumo, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's 48-year-old war minister, quit his cabinet post and his seat in Parliament Wednesday night after confessing he had lied in denying an "improper association" with a notorious model, Christine Keeler.

Profumo

Profumo's disgrace was a political bombshell for Macmillan and his Conservative party, who had believed the minister's denial in the House of Commons March 22, that the Highway evergets no illicit relations with the 22-year-old model, a redheaded beauty who numbered two Jamaican Negroes among her lovers.

Humphrey Proposes 'Great River Road'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill calling for financial aid to help states construct the "Great River Road" down the full length of the Mississippi River has been introduced by Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

The measure would enable the 10 states bordering the Mississippi to buy rights of way for construction of roads, recreational facilities and rest areas and to upgrade existing roads to parkway standards.

New Buildings Asked For Truax Air Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sum of $447,000 for new construction at Truax Air Force Base at Madison, Wis., is included in the $1.6 billion military construction bill approved by the House. Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said Wednesday.

The funds have been designated for erection of a gymnasium and an aircraft weapons calibration shelter.

Court Rules Cigarette Makers Liable if Their Product Proves Harmful

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Under Florida law, cigarette manufacturers are responsible for any harmful effects of their products on the human body, the state Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

The court said manufacturers were liable for damages whether or not "by human skill and foresight" they were able to determine the long-range effect of use of their products.

The opinion answered a request of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans for interpretation of the provisions of Florida law regarding the implied warranty of manufacturers and distributors.

The appeals court granted a rehearing of a suit by Edwin Green of Miami against the American Tobacco Co., charging he contracted lung cancer by smoking Lucky Strike cigarettes.

The U.S. District Court in Miami cleared the American Tobacco Co. of responsibility and the appeals court upheld the decision.

accepted only because Mississippi couldn't whip the U.S. Army. "It would be unwise and futile," said the governor, who had unsuccessfully attempted to block Meredith's admission last fall.

"We have done everything in our power to prevent the enrollment of Cleve McDowell in the university law school," said Barnett. "His entry is in violation of the laws of the state and is contrary to the wishes and order of the Board of Trustees, of the institutions of higher learning and the governor and the people."

No Rude Remarks
"I have not heard one rude remark," McDowell, wearing a checked sports jacket and a new, thin moustache, told a press conference after he was registered. "I think this registration was carried out quite well," he added. "There is evidence someone did a lot of work."

McDowell paid fees totaling $179 with a $500 check from the Utility Club, Inc., of New York City. The club was not further identified.

In other racial developments, Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama vowed Wednesday night that despite a federal court order he would resist integration of the University of Alabama. He also appealed for law and order.

Just hours before Wallace's election campaign talk, U.S. District Judge Sevour H. Lynne issued an injunction barring the governor from physically interfering with the enrollment of three Negroes in the university system.

Lowering Barriers
Three cities in the Carolinas said racial barriers at eating facilities would be lowered. They included Winston-Salem and Raleigh, N.C., and Spartanburg, S.C. At the same time, integration leaders said pressure would be applied for equal rights in other South Carolina cities.

In Los Angeles, white and Negro integrationists pledged Birmingham-type demonstrations if city government and business leaders failed today to take firm steps toward total integration.

McDowell, an honor graduate of Jackson State (Negro) College, enrolled for seven hours of classes, a heavy summer load.

He was trailed by two ministers, a Justice Department attorney, a U.S. marshal, a State Highway Patrol official, newsmen, photographers and Tom Hines, student activities director, as he made his way through the school corridors.

Won Court Battle
At the main entrance to the law school, Hines waved away about 25 loitering students. Sheriff Joseph Ford stepped in at one point to drive the group across the campus. Ford is president of the local Citizens Council.

McDowell won admission to the university in a court fight that came after the state Board of Institutions of Higher Learning rejected his application on the grounds that his enrollment might cause "unrest."

marketplace by its greater speed, a prime factor in airline competition.

The projected British-French "Concorde" aims at roughly 1,500 miles an hour. The two nations have pooled $500 million for their effort.

Kennedy talked of getting the American model into service by 1969 or before, although some experts believe 1971 or 1972 is closer to probability. "Concorde" deliveries have been promised in 1968. This also has been questioned.

If the United States decides to try for the faster, 2,000-mile-an-hour plane, it will be gambling that the time lag in putting it into the air will be offset in the

It also will be taking on greater research and aerodynamics problems, although these are formidable in either undertaking.

For one thing, the Mach 3 craft would have to be made of steel and titanium, instead of the conventional aluminum deemed suitable for the slower Mach 2, because of frictional heat considerations.

Douglas Aircraft Co. engineers have estimated external temperatures of the aircraft skin will range up to 600 degrees Fahrenheit. The cabin and fuel tanks would have to be insulated.

Although there was speculation

in Paris that the Pan Am order might stampede other airlines into buying the "Concorde" without waiting for an American model, it found no immediate confirmation here.

Praises Kennedy

American Airlines and TWA, two of the American Big Four lines, said they have no plan to follow Pan Am's lead. However, Charles C. Tillinghast Jr., TWA president, said his company, "as a potential operator of supersonic aircraft," applauded President Kennedy's decision.

C. R. Smith, American's president and a champion of U.S. action in the supersonic field, was not available for comment Wednesday.

However, in a recent speech he emphasized present uncertainties. "We have only estimates of what the airplane may cost and what the cost of operations may be. We must have better answers, and it will take time to produce these," he said.

and burst into flames, crossed the Frank Wollerheim driveway and overturned and came to rest against a tree on the front lawn 300 feet from the highway. The fire was put out by ambulance attendants, police said.

Outagamie County Patrolman Robert Keating, 25, who was chasing the car at the time of the accident first came upon the car parked on Hass Road about one and one-half miles from the scene of the accident.

Drove Away
He said he got out of his squad car to investigate when the car suddenly was driven away. Keating went back to his car and gave chase.

The car was driven to the end of Hass Road and turned toward Kaukauna on County Trunk Q. Keating said he followed about one-quarter mile behind and reached speeds up to 85 miles an hour.

Near the Kaukauna city limits, Keating radioed Kaukauna police and asked for assistance but was Keating said he saw the car he was following go into one curve near Peters Road and begin to wobble. The car then went into the second curve, went out of control and into the ditch. Keating said he estimated the car was going 80 miles an hour when it went into the second curve.

Kemps and Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer today said that an inquest will be held in connection with the double fatality, but that no date had been set.

Council Approves Attendance at Airport Hearing

CLINTONVILLE — Three delinquent personal property taxes for 1963 were reported to the council Tuesday night by City Treasurer James Smart. They amounted to $299.81.

The council authorized the attendance of city officials at the Friday meeting of the Aeronautics Commission beginning at 10 a. m. at the State Office Building, Madison. Planning to attend are attorney Robert Otto, the city's legal counsel in airport affairs, and Basil Arvey, director of public works and airport manager.

Street Lights
A petition from property owners was read asking for street lights between Green Tree Road and Eighteenth Street and between N. Twelfth Street and Harriet Street. The petition was referred to the Water and Light department with power to act.

The council approved a recommendation of the board of public works to petition the Public Service Commission in connection with a railroad crossing on Paulina Street.

The council approved having the driveway and parking area at the rear of the Finney Public Library blacktopped at a cost of $105 with the charge to be made to the Parking meter fund.

Parking Area
A motion was passed to have the parking area at the swimming pool enlarged an additional 75 by 200 feet at an approximate cost of $1500. The cost is to come out of the parking meter fund.

The city's first payment of state income taxes has been received in the amount of $40,904.63.

A resolution was adopted by the council with respect to the school problem. The resolution which will be sent to the senators and assemblymen in the legislature and to the Governor, Supl. K. O. Rawson reported to the city officials late Tuesday that because of the stalemate in state finances, the Clintonville schools might have a cut in school benefits of $52,780.

Chilton Board Buys Bus, Paves Way to Purchase of Language Lab

Transportation Fleet Jumps to 11; Seek Federal Education Act Funds

CHILTON — The Board of Education has purchased a new school bus and cleared the way for the purchase of a foreign language laboratory for the school.

The bus, a GMC with a V-6 engine and a 66-passenger Carpenter body, cost $7,115. Bolz Buick, Chilton, was the successful bidder. Three local automotive and implement firms submitted bids.

In a departure from the traditional policy, the board elected to purchase the new bus without trading in an older unit as has been done in past years. Giving rise to the move was a report at the board's May meeting that the district will need one more bus this year to transport increasing number of rural children enrolled for the 1963-64 school term. The district bus fleet has now been swelled to 11 units. The majority are 66-passenger buses.

Apply for Funds
A foreign language laboratory, costing an estimated $5,900 was the major item in a list of science and foreign language equipment included in an application for National Defense Education Act funds. The estimated cost includes equipment and tapes to be used for instruction purposes with the electron study equipment.

The complete list for which federal cost sharing is sought under the NDEA amounted to $6,482. After the application is approved, bids on a 15-unit language laboratory will be sought before a final selection is made. A. W. Gordon, superintendent, said.

Final board approval was given to the division of assets of the former Brotherhood School District. During reorganization the district was divided between the Chilton and New Holstein high school districts. New Holstein's share of the total valuation was 27.8 per cent.

Total Assets
The districts total net assets, after sale of the school building, amounted to $3,086. New Holstein's percentage gives the district $859. This left $2,227 for the Chilton District.

Gordon reported that the school's public address system was badly overloaded and said that a new system will become a necessity before the new classroom addition is utilized. Even without the nine new classrooms added to the system, it is already overloaded, he remarked, and recommended its replacement.

The board took no action but indicated that it would study costs before its July 8 meeting with a decision expected at that time.

There was also preliminary discussion on the forthcoming new district budget. A proposed budget will be drafted and given tentative approval at the July 8 meeting with final approval expected after the budget hearing at the annual meeting July 22.

Amherst to Get Nursing Home

AMHERST — Mr. and Mrs. Richard Worzalla, operators of Worzalla's Nursing Home, are planning to construct a new nursing home on the lot they recently purchased at the northern end of the village limits. Construction of the home will be by Great Lakes Homes, Inc. and work done by Classic Builders of Amherst, financing by Medi-Cross of Butler, Wis. The structure will be of wood with white brick facing, and will be a four wing, one story building with a full basement. The home will have 65 rooms, a chapel, dining, reception, recreation, kitchen and laundry rooms and facilities for a doctor's and dentist's office.

Potter Women at Church Sessions

POTTER — The Women's Guild of Peace United Church of Christ, here sent three delegates to the recent training session by the denomination's Council for Lay Life and Work. The program was at St. Paul United Church of Christ, Oshkosh.

Local delegates were Mrs. Ruben Wenzel, Mrs. Larry Pagel and Mrs. Raymond Walkenhorst. It was second session for Mrs. Walkenhorst who attended a similar program with Mrs. E. Lerche at Green Bay earlier in May.

Chilton PTA Re-Elects President

CHILTON — Mrs. William Hedrich has been re-elected president of the Chilton Parent-Teachers Association unit.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Quentin Maeschberger, vice president; Mrs. Donald Sattler, secretary, and James Steenport, treasurer.

Mrs. Hedrich was elected to the group's top post when it organized less than a year ago. She was instrumental in the revival of the PTA in Chilton.

Program Survey
A program survey was conducted by Mrs. William Engler, Jr. in an effort to determine exactly what type projects members prefer. It will be announced when the group opens its new program in fall.

A. W. Gordon, Chilton Superintendent of Schools, was guest speaker. His topic was "What Happened to Chilton High School Graduates."

The host committee was comprised of Mr. and Mrs. William Foster Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Goeldi.

Council Approves

New Chilton Street Is Hawthorne Court

CHILTON — Hawthorne Court is the name selected by the city council for the new street being built west of Reed Street in the Homebuilders Subdivision. The name was recommended by the public affairs committee and quickly gained council approval. An ordinance will be prepared to add the street to the city map and provide for official adoption of the name.

The new street came in for council attention a second time this week when street committee chairman George Winkler reported that the depth of storm sewers will make it necessary to bring a power shovel for the excavation work.

Poor Equipment
Winkler said the city equipment was inadequate for the work. He also suggested that when the shovel is here, the water main trenches should also be dug. The report was adopted by the council.

A stretch of sidewalk on the north side of S. Main Street along the Bechlem and O'Donnell buildings will be torn up and replaced. The present sidewalk there is higher than elsewhere on the street, creating a high step from the street to the sidewalk. The new sidewalk will have a seven inch pitch from building to curb. The aldermen learned that the city's income tax apportionment from the state is $28,860.

Beer Licenses
Special Class B beer sales licenses were issued to the Fair Association for June stock car races and to the city band for its series of live spring concerts.

Purchase of some $330 of baseball equipment, hats, uniforms by the recreation department for the summer baseball program was approved by the council.

Recreation Commission chairman Vincent Reinkeher asked the council to study the possibility of installing safety devices for swimmers in the Manitowoc River. He

CAB Recommendation

County Airport Backers Hopeful Despite Threat of Lost Service

BY DICK LYNES
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Despite a "tentative position" of a Civil Aeronautics Bureau recommending an end to North Central Airlines service in Appleton, supporters of a new Outagamie County Airport were still very optimistic today.

The report, made public Tuesday, was from the CAB's Bureau of Economic Regulation.

Karl Baldwin, an Appleton attorney and a member of the Chamber of Commerce airport trial Airlines area airport investment committee, said, "This report is a setback, but it is not a final decision. The hearing set for July aligns themselves with the Fox-based on exhibits already before is before an examiner who will weigh the evidence and make recommendations to the CAB. His issue. We will just have to rebut recommendation may favor either the county (Appleton or Oshkosh) or it may be to let both cities keep air service."

William H. Pifer, chairman of the Chamber committee, said the report was "very preliminary" and "even if the CAB made a decision against us, it would not be that we would give up or have any recourse for an appeal."

Final Decision

It probably will be a couple of years before the CAB makes any final decision (in the North Central Airlines area airport investment committee, said, "This report is a setback, but it is not a final decision. The hearing set for July aligns themselves with the Fox-based on exhibits already before is before an examiner who will weigh the evidence and make recommendations to the CAB. His issue. We will just have to rebut recommendation may favor either the county (Appleton or Oshkosh) or it may be to let both cities keep air service."

rebut may not have taken this into consideration.

"Part of the reasoning behind this regional airport service concept is to cut down on federal subsidies for airlines and quitting service at airports which are not worthwhile."

"Appleton," Baldwin continued, "has consistently exceeded its 'use it or lose it' quota by three of four times, both for passengers and cargo. So consequently, there is very little reason for a CAB decision to deny airline service to Appleton. We are using our airport and supporting it."

"The CAB probably will let both Appleton and Oshkosh continue their service until some future time when they will make a final recommendation."

"In the meantime," Baldwin stressed, "we won't wait. We hope to have bids accepted by September for the runways, the terminal and the hangars. The county board's airport committee is going full steam ahead regardless of the CAB decision."

Many Factors

Pifer pointed out that it will be a year or two before the CAB makes any final decision, "and in the meantime, a great many factors favoring our location will develop more clearly."

As to whether or not the county should go ahead with its airport building plans even if there were no prospects for commercial service, Baldwin said, "Yes, and from an industrial standpoint alone this area would need a new airport."

"There are 115,000 privately-owned airplanes in the United States as against 2,000 commercial planes. A far greater portion of business travel is conducted with private aircraft. Actually, the greatest reason for a new Fox Cities airport is industrial use. The entire concept of the new airport is based mainly upon the need of the business community for close business plane facilities. Use by Kimberly-Clark and Marathon alone is very extensive and there are several others. Industrial leaders in Neenah and Menasha want our new airport and will use it."

Asked whether Outagamie County could appeal an unfavorable CAB decision, Baldwin said, "By the time they (the CAB) make their decision, we'll have our new airport, and if the large Neenah-Menasha industries transfer their business, we are going to have a lot of new facts to come out with a supplemental exhibit."

Re-Consideration

Pifer explained that there isn't any recourse which can exactly be called an "appeal," but he said any party in the hearing can apply for a re-consideration. Some cities which have lost airline service, he said, have started lawsuits against the CAB.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell had no comment to make on the CAB bureau's statement. "Very few people around here know just what it means," he said. As to whether the county should go ahead with new airport construction plans without prospects for commercial airline service, Mitchell said, "I do not wish to comment on that."

Green Bay Firm to Build Waupaca Telephone Office

WAUPACA — The general contract for the construction of the new dial central office building of the Waupaca branch of the Wisconsin Telephone Co., has been awarded to Howard W. Juncel, Inc., Green Bay, J. N. Obertin, manager, said this morning.

The one story structure will be located on Jefferson Street, one block east of Main Street.

The electrical work has been contracted to Bob Richards Co., Inc., Waupaca, and the plumbing to Du-Rite Plumbing Co., New London. The heating, ventilating and air conditioning will be handled by Ted Kuck Co., Sheboygan.

Start Soon

Obertin announced that work will begin soon. "We believe the combination of simplicity and modern design will help beautify the Waupaca area," Obertin said.

The building will cost about $100,000 and will house the new dial equipment. It will cover 4,700 square feet and will be constructed of reinforced concrete and masonry.

"The new central office will be completed during the first part of next year and will house all of the equipment necessary for bringing dial service to Waupaca as well as a business office," Obertin explained.

The present building on the site will be razed in a few days.

The festival will begin at 10:15 a.m. June 23 with Dr. E. C. Reinertson, pastor from 1928-34, and now president of the Southeastern Minnesota District of the American Lutheran Church, delivering the sermon.

Greetings from former pastors and "sons of the congregation" will be part of the afternoon program, to begin at 1:30 p.m. Former pastors, besides Dr. Reinertson, are pastors Finn Magelsson, Decorah, Iowa; Oliver Thompson, Sunburg, Minn.; Selmer Knutson, Woodville, and Paul Hougren, Neve, Ill. Members of the congregation who are now pastors are Jerome Stoltenberg, Rice Lake; Eldred Johnson, Westhope, N. D. and Roger Johnson, Harvey, N. D. Deceased pastors of the church are K. O. Eldahl, G. Kluxdahl and S. L. Thompson.

The Rev. John H. Kramer is present pastor of the Nelsonville church and Peace Lutheran, at Amherst.

No Sunday School

AMHERST — There will be no Sunday school classes at Peace Lutheran and Nelsonville Lutheran churches until fall, according to the pastor, the Rev. John Kramer. Both churches are holding study at South Dakota State College from June 11 to Aug. 2.

Wallace Sets Stage to Play Martyr Role

Act May Aid Him In Seeking Some Other Elective Post

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace has set the stage to play the martyr. That's clear, but not his reason for trying it.

Nine years ago the Supreme Court ordered public schools desegregated, ruling that "separate educational facilities are unequal."

But the court, because there are so many elementary and secondary schools and they have varying problems, allowed time for desegregating all of them.

This was when it said desegregation should proceed "with all deliberate speed." Recently the court indicated it feels speed is much too slow.

So much for the elementary and secondary schools.

As for state colleges or universities—the court said a week ago "recognition of the need for delay" has not even been extended to them.

But the University of Alabama is a public school and it hasn't been desegregated at all. Not one school of any kind in Alabama has been desegregated.

Admission Ordered

This year a federal court, nine years after the Supreme Court's original ruling, ordered Negroes admitted next Monday to the University of Alabama.

Wallace promptly announced he would stand in the university door to block the Negroes from registering. He repeated this as late as last Sunday.

Wednesday a federal district judge, Seybourn H. Lynne issued a stern injunction to Wallace not to interfere with the Negroes' enrollment.

It does not prevent him from going to the campus Monday nor demanding in the name of the state that the Negroes be denied enrollment.

In effect, he's free to put on an act.

Wallace Warned

But the injunction warned him not to block, prevent or interfere with the entrance of the Negro students by "physically interposing his person or that of any other person under his direction or control."

If Wallace defies this injunction and is arrested and convicted of criminal contempt, he could be jailed for 10 years.

Nevertheless, a few hours after the warning from the judge, Wallace went on the air to say he would take action that "involves even my personal freedom, but I intend to carry it out, regardless of what risk I take."

He added: "What happens to George Wallace is not important but what happens to constitutional government is very important."

But how does the preservation of constitutional government jibe with what Wallace says he'll do since the Supreme Court has declared segregation unconstitutional and a federal judge ordered Alabama's university desegregated?

Last Weekend

Last weekend he said that resistance to the court order is a "dramatic way to express to the American people the omnipotent march of centralized government."

Then he added this: "If I am arrested I will go peacefully. I haven't said I'd disobey a federal court order for defiance's sake but for testing."

Testing what?

He said the basic constitutional question to be decided in the courts is whether Alabama could operate its school system as it has in the past or whether the courts and the federal government would in effect, operate the system.

Both parts of this question can be answered easily:

1. The courts and the federal government, as Wallace knows, do not operate state's school systems. So this is not a real question.

2. Alabama in the past has operated segregated public schools. The Supreme Court has ruled public school segregation is unconstitutional.

So there is no constitutional question left to be tested.

Cerebral Palsy Fund Collections Hit $403 In Calumet County

CHILTON — Calumet County contributions to the Cerebral Palsy Fund as a result of the recent telethon totaled $403, according to Mrs. Joe Wettstein. Chilton

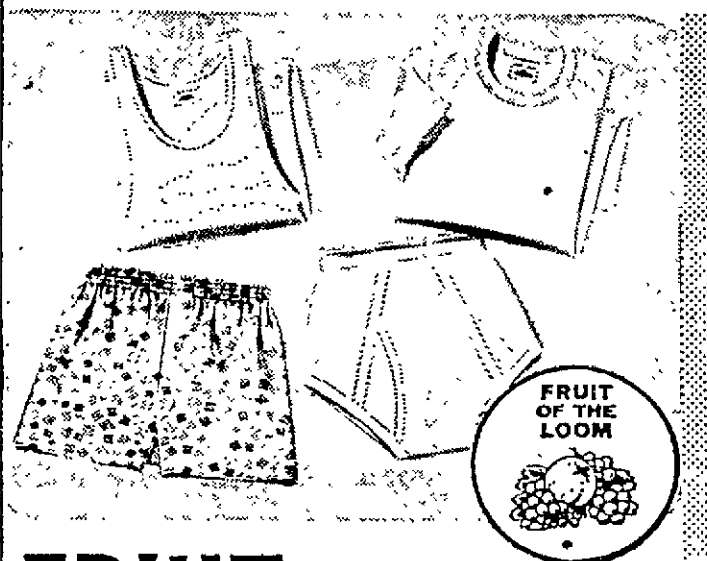

Mrs. Wettstein headed the drive in the county and served as a pledge taker. Pledges also were taken at the Leander Roehrig home, Hilbert, and they amounted to $122 there. The Hilbert Girl Scouts collected $86 during the drive.
